TANK-LED RED ATTACK REPULSED

'Ike' In Capital To Meet Truman

Peiping Radio Says Reds Will Keep Kaesong

Latest American Proposal Rejected

MUNSAN, Korea, Monday, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Communists offered in a semi-official broadcast today to settle for a Korean cease-fire on the present battle line, either with or without minor adjustments, but declared they would never consider giving up the town of Kaesong.

The Red position was stated in a special broadcast by the Peiping radio. It was datelined Kaesong, but was not attributed as to scource. It rejected the latest American proposal to place Kaesong within a demilitarized buffer zone.

The broadcast was made three hours before Allied and Communist truce negotiators met again at 11 a. m., (9 p. m., Sunday E. S. T.)

Short Sunday Meeting

Harping on Kaesong, scene of last summer's futile armistice talks, as the main point of difference, the Red radio reviewed the entire current series of talks at Panmunjom and concluded that any delay in a truce was the Americans' fault.

After a dreary two-hour session Sunday morning, the opposing two-man subcommittees at Panmunjom met for only three minutes Sunday afternoon—long enough to agree to adjourn until Monday.

There was no indication, however, that either side considered breaking off the negotiations.

Kaesong, Red-held town two miles south of parallel 38 and 34 air miles northwest of Seoul, appeared to be the principal obstacle to agreement on a cease-fire line.

There appeared to be no serious conflict over a buffer zone two and one-half miles wide to follow the present battle line elsewhere, mostly well inside North Korea. Some disagreement remained on exact definition of the battle line.

Allies Ease Stand

The Allies first insisted they needed Kaesong to guard against any sudden Red descent on Seoul. The Reds insisted they must keep it.

The Allies then countered by suggesting that Kaesong be included in the buffer zone and thus kept out of the hands of either side. The Reds Sunday said this proposal was "unacceptable" and refused to discuss it.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, United Nations command spokesman, said, however, that the Communist reply was not a "categorical" rejection. This belief apparently was based on the fact that the Reds simply refused to discuss the matter.

All seven crew members abandoned the craft after fire broke out and were rescued from two dories by the dragger Theresa R. Shortly after this picture was made by a crewman of the dragger, the Wind plunged to the bottom.

Argentine Ship Sunk In Collision With Troopship

Not Single Life Lost In Foggy North Sea

BREMERHAVEN, Germany, Nov. 4 (AP)—The gleaming new Argentine motorship Maipu sank in the fog-bound North Sea today after a collision with the U. S. troopship Gen. M. L. Hersey but all aboard were saved.

All 238 persons from the Maipu were picked up from lifeboats by the Hersey and German rescue craft searching in almost zero visibility for more than three hours. The captain of the 12,000-ton Maipu said their was no panic in abandoning ship.

The Hersey, carrying 43rd U. S. Infantry Division troops to Germany, was damaged only slightly. She limped into Bremerhaven tonight with her bow bashed in and with many Maipu survivors aboard.

Discipline Good

The Maipu's captain, Jaun Marquez, was picked up by the German lightship Weser, near which the crash occurred.

While still at sea he told of the rescue in a ship-to-shore radio interview. He said his 80 passengers and crew of 158 appeared calm and under good discipline after the collision.

The crash came at 7:32 a. m. (2:32 a. m., EST) 15 miles offshore but the listing ship stayed afloat for three hours.

The 10,000-ton Hersey stood by and quickly began searching for lifeboats, barely visible in the early morning fog. The Weser and smaller German vessels joined in.

News Hitch Ironed Out

The last of the lifeboats, with 15 aboard, was not found until after the Maipu finally plunged to the bottom.

When the Hersey docked with the survivors and the American troops sent to bolster Allied defenses against communism, her officers refused to discuss the collision. They said an official statement would be issued later.

One American officer commented only that "everything's okay now."

British Conduct Suez Arms Hunt

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 4 (AP)—British troops threw a cordon about the village of Serapeun in the Suez Canal zone today and carried out a systematic search for hidden arms.

A British spokesman said a few guns were found. The search, reminiscent of British tactics when they were trying to suppress terrorists against their mandate forces in Palestine, obviously was for the purpose of defeating plans of the fanatical Moslem brotherhood for guerrilla war to drive the British out of their Middle East bastion.

The Egyptian government has cancelled its 1936 alliance with Britain, but the British government has refused to recognize the one-sided action until some sort of Western Power defense system is set up to take its place. Egypt has turned down one proposal to internationalize the canal's defenses.

The raid on Serapeun was the first such action, but there has been speculation that the British would carry out a series of such operations —despite the danger of clashes—if they received information that the Moslem brotherhood was building up arms stores and concentrating "liberation battalions" in the zone.

Mother, Three Tots Die In Tragic Fire

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 4 (AP) — A young mother and her three small children burned to death today in a fire which roared through their frame house before dawn.

Killed were Mrs. Mary Belle Patterson, 25; Kay Francis, four; James B. Jr., three; and Eugene, four months. Their bodies were mixed with a heap of charred, smoking embers—all that remained of the eight-room, two-story house near Evans City.

Another woman, an expectant mother living in the house, her husband, and two youths were injured.

Deputy Coroner J. Clinton Atwell blamed the tragic fire on an overheated furnace and placed damage at $8,000.

Five-Foot Tall U. S. Soldier Is "Skoshie"

EAST CENTRAL FRONT, Korea, Nov. 4 (AP) — Five-foot Lt. John (Skoshie) Oliver, Gloucester, Mass., claims he is the shortest soldier in the U. S. Army.

The 24th Division officer, whose nickname means "small" or "shorty" in Japanese, says his lack of height has helped him go through five months of combat without a scratch.

Sent To Hospital Through Modesty

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4 (AP) — Modesty sent Walter F. Logan, 49, to the hospital today.

He awoke to find his house afire. He rushed his wife to safety outside.

Suddenly he realized that he was standing there without his pants. So he dashed back into the flaming house.

He came out, with pants, but also with burns, on the shoulder, arm and hand.

Dock Strikers To Picket Union

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP) — The leader of New York's wildcat striking longshoremen, challenging union attempts to end the big port's longest and costliest walkout, threatened today to use pickets to resist a back to work vote.

Strike Leader John J. (Gene) Sampson said 150 pickets will be on hand tomorrow when Local 791 of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL) meets to discuss a rank-and-file referendum of resuming work.

Sampson is business agent of the local, which has spearheaded the three-week work stoppage that has piled an estimated billion dollars worth of goods on piers and in warehouses around the world's biggest harbor.

ILA President Joseph P. Ryan has opposed the strike from the start, calling it unauthorized. The strikers are demanding reopening of a recently-negotiated wage contract.

Tomorrow's meeting was called by ILA District Council President James J. Gannon, who said he had a petition signed by 43 out of the 1,500 members of Local 791.

But Sampson claimed that only 12 persons had signed the petition and only six of those were members of the local in good standing.

Veteran Film Director Dies At Football Game

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4 (AP) — The film colony learned today that veteran Director Richard Wallace, 57, collapsed and died in the Los Angeles Coliseum at conclusion of the California-UCLA football game yesterday.

Wallace, a UCLA fan, was watching the parade of rooters celebrating the upset 21-7 Bruin victory over California when he was stricken with a heart attack.

His pictures included "The Shopworn Angel," "Innocents Of Paris," which was Maurice Chevalier's first American film; "The Young In Heart," "The Little Minister," and more recently "Kiss And Tell," "Tycoon," "A Kiss For Corliss," "Let's Live A Little."

Temperatures Hit Record Lows On Heels Of Storms

A second cold front brought seasonal record low temperatures to much of the nation's eastern half Sunday on the heels of a frigid, windy storm which caused at least 34 traffic deaths on icy roads.

The new front pushed south and east, across the Ohio valley toward the Atlantic seaboard, and into Louisiana and the Southeast.

In Florida, Jacksonville's 37 equalled a record for this early in the season. The nation's coldest spot was Jamestown, N. D.—six degrees below zero. Other below zero spots Sunday included Grantsburg, Wis., -1, and Devil's Lake, N. D., -3.

Dubuque, Iowa's 7 degrees and Madison, Wisconsin's 10 early Sunday created new temperature records for this early in the winter. In the South, twenty degree temperatures were recorded. Freezing temperatures were reported in South Carolina and Alabama.

The temperature dropped to 28.3 degrees Sunday afternoon at New York city. The reading was a record low for the date.

The Weather Bureau at Chicago reported early Sunday that a new snow area was forming in Nebraska and South Dakota and was heading East and southeast towards the Great Lakes area.

Truman Seeks Global Support For Peace Plan

President's Formula Will Challenge USSR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP) — President Truman will make a global bid Wednesday night for support of American plans for ending the conflict with Russia, in contrast with proposals which have been put forward by the Soviet Union itself.

Officials said today the President's formula for settling East-West differences on major issues and easing world tensions would also constitute a challenge to Moscow to back up its repeated expressions of devotion to peace with positive actions in the United Nations and elsewhere.

The occasion of the President's talk at 10:30 p. m., Wednesday is the opening phase of the United Nations General Assembly in Paris. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, heading the American delegation, is prepared to put forward a specific plan of action toward peace to which, it is apparent, Mr. Truman will give his full support and prestige in the speech from the White House.

Who Is Peace For?

The United States leaders are acting on the assumption that the great issue before the U.N. Assembly and the world at this time is the issue of peace and particularly the question, who is for it?

It has been a source of dismay to officials here for a long time that regardless of what the Communists were doing in such places as Korea, Indochina, or Southeastern Europe the Soviet Union seemed to be able to convince many people over the world that the Kremlin was the capital for world peace movement; and contrarily that when the Western Powers armed for defense against possible new Communist aggression the Red propagandists could persuade many people that this was rampant militarism at its aggressive worst.

Serve Two Purposes

Mr. Truman's speech, therefore, as well as the steps taken by Acheson with British and French coordination at Paris has been designed to serve both a policy purpose and, in the broadest sense, a propaganda purpose. It will provide a formula for settlements between the West and Russia which—if Moscow reacted favorably—could actually lead to serious negotiation and settlement. In this sense, it would be a restatement of American policy on such matters as Korea and atomic weapons, at the highest level.

It will also provide a timely challenge to Moscow for action rather than words on specific points without making any substantial changes in American policy as bait for negotiation.

New Casualty List Is Second Heaviest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The second heaviest casualty list of the Korean war, released today, contained the names of 1,195 members of the U. S. armed forces.

It reported 157 killed, 952 wounded, 27 missing in action and 59 injured in combat accidents.

The longest list, published Oct. 8, 1950, reported 1,211 American battle casualties.

Defense Department records show that most of the casualties listed today were suffered in the week ending Oct. 15, during the heavy fighting which preceded the resumption of armistice talks.

General Says He Plans Only Military Talks

Conferences Will Be Started Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower flew into Washington tonight for a Monday-Tuesday round of talks with President Truman and others on why he thinks there are "discouraging" as well as encouraging aspects in the effort to rearm Western Europe.

The supreme commander of the Allied powers in Europe landed at National Airport (6:54 p. m. EST) after an overnight visit he and Mrs. Eisenhower had with their son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and John's family at Fort Knox, Ky.

Eisenhower told reporters at the airport that "I'm here for one purpose only—to talk military affairs with my superiors in the Pentagon and elsewhere in Washington."

He was asked whether he expected to see Sen. Duff (R-Pa), who has been promoting him for the Republican nomination. Eisenhower replied that he hadn't heard from Duff "either directly or indirectly in a long, long, time."

A "Fellow Coming Home"

Eisenhower came home from his headquarters in Paris, at the direction of President Truman, to report on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization progress in a military way. However, the trip also has whipped up new speculations about what the general may do about the 1952 presidential race.

The general also told reporters, as he stepped out of the plane at Washington for his first visit since last February 16, that "it would be difficult to express the feelings of a fellow coming home again."

He said "it was nice to spend the weekend with my son" but that tomorrow "I will go to work again," meaning the round of talks with Mr. Truman and Defense and State Department officials.

Eisenhower's first formal conference tomorrow will be a two-man meeting with Mr. Truman at a luncheon in Blair House, a preamble to a full-dress session at 3 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, attended by the President, the general and top officials of the Defense and State Departments.

Question Kept Alive

It was the preliminary private talk between Eisenhower and the chief executive that continued to keep alive the question of whether Mr. Truman might receive from Eisenhower a firm commitmnet on whether he would stay on as supreme commander or come back home to seek a presidential nomination. The talk persisted despite Eisenhower's assertion to reporters at New York yesterday that "I have never had any political aspirations—period." But when reporters asked if they could say that, come what may, Eisenhower would not be a candidate next year, he told them that "of course you can't say that; I will not indicate political leanings of any kind; I'm doing a job. That's my statement."

Murray Spurns Union With AFL

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP) — CIO President Philip Murray gave his answer today to AFL urgings to merge—no, thanks, on AFL terms.

Murray's answer was given in his report to the CIO's 13th convention, which begins here tomorrow.

He said he did not believe the CIO leadership and rank and file members "want organic unity on the only terms which the leaders of the AFL are apparently ready to offer—an organic unity in which the glorious record of industrial unionism will be subject to over-riding by the craft union philosophy which still dominates the AFL."

It was that conflict between the craft union leaders and those who wanted to organize mass production industries in the AFL which led to the big split in 1935-1936, and creation of the CIO (Congress of Industrial Organizations).

Murray deplored the smash-up of the United Labor Policy Committee, which was abandoned by the AFL leaders in September after nine months of cooperation with the CIO and railroad independent unions.

The AFL convention a month later approved the action but said that organic merger, rather than working together as separate organizations, was called for. The AFL offered to resume talks for that purpose.

Sen. Humphrey Convinced Truman Will Not Run Again If Eisenhower Is Available

Klein Says Ike Won't Compete With President

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), a down-the-line backer of President Truman, predicted today that if Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower becomes politically available in 1952 the President will not run again.

In a talk with reporters he made it clear that view holds good whether the general goes Democratic or Republican, saying he is firmly convinced the time will never arrive when Mr. Truman and Eisenhower are opposing each other for the presidency.

Humphrey's comments coincided with a statement from Julius Klein, Chicago backer of Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), that he believes Eisenhower will not compete with Mr. Truman if the President seeks reelection.

Klein Talked With Ike

Klein, a National Guard brigadier general who served for a time in Washington, based his opinion on a conversation he said he had with Eisenhower at the Pentagon in 1948. He predicted that Eisenhower would not run on the Democratic ticket" but would try for the Republican nomination if Mr. Truman should "eliminate himself from the Democratic nomination early enough."

If it can be assumed that both men are correct in their estimates, the significance of the possible political exchanges between Mr. Truman and the general, starting tomorrow, reaches vital proportions. In such a situation the talks could go a long way toward picking the nominees of both parties.

Stassen Wants Answers By Ike

Meanwhile, Harold E. Stassen commented that Eisenhower 'is the most popular man in America today" but said he would have to have "some answers to some questions" before he could say whether he would support the general for President.

Stassen also said "the overwhelming majority of the American people" don't want Mr. Truman or Taft for "their next president."

Stassen added that he will decide later whether to run himself, but already has "made up my mind not to support Sen. Taft" for the Republican nomination.

FREE TO ENTER U. S. — A German war bride, Mrs. Ellen Knauff, 36, calls her husband Kurt, in Hanau, Germany, to tell him that she had been released from Ellis Island, N. Y., and won the right to live permanently in the U. S. She was barred in 1948 by U. S. immigration officials as a security risk. Mrs. Knauff was accused of having been a spy for Czechoslovakia.

Mother Of Four Slashes Throats

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 4 (AP) — A mother of four children cut their throats with a kitchen butcher knife in their beds here today, police reported. All were dead when officers arrived at the home at 6:40 a.m.

Mrs. Hilda Schafer Kanzie, 35 was booked on a charge of suspicion of murder.

The children were Annette, 9, and Joseph, 8, in separate beds; and Hilda, 6, and Stella, 5, sleeping together.

Joseph Menhen Kanzie, 51, the father, said his wife was released from the state mental hospital at Patton a year and a half ago and had been acting normal since. Kanzie is a house painter.

He told officers he was awakened by his wife's shriek of: "Murder! I've murdered my kids."

Police, summoned by the father reported they found Mrs. Kanzie in the bathroom, where the bloody knife lay on a child's dress. They quoted her:

"I'm crazy. I don't know how I got this done but I did it."

Tydings Offers Big Reward For "57 Reds In State Dept."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP) — Millard E. Tydings, former Democratic senator from Maryland, today offered a $5,000 reward for action leading to the indictment of "57 card-carrying Communists" said by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) to have worked in the State Department.

The offer was made in a letter to Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), an outspoken critic of the way Tydings conducted the 1950 inquiry into McCarthy's charges.

Jenner declared Oct. 31 that Tydings "evaded" his duty in the inquiry in "so obvious" a manner that it became a "decisive factor" in Tydings' defeat last November by his Republican opponent, Sen. John Marshall Butler.

Jenner's views were set forth in a minority report on a Senate investigation of the Maryland senatorial campaign. Tydings' letter, which Jenner made public today, challenged "Jenner or McCarthy or anyone else," to "go before the U. S. grand jury and have these '57 card-carrying Communists' in the State Department indicted."

For such action, Tydings said, "I will make you a present of $5,000 in cash." He added the provision that the action be taken prior to Feb. 9, 1952. That date, he said, would mark "two full years since McCarthy made his charges of '205 Communists in the State Department'" in a West Virginia speech.

Allies Regain Ground Lost Near Yonchon

Six Tanks Kayoed; Sky Battles Rage

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Monday, Nov. 5 (AP) — Chinese Communist soldiers, supported by about 20 tanks, last night launched the largest attack in months against Allied troops. The Reds hit west of Yonchon on the western front.

Allied troops held the Reds to small gains and by midnight had hurled back all the attacking forces and regained the lost ground, the Eighth Army said.

The ground attacks followed a day of blazing jet battles in the northwest in which 92 American jets tangled with 145 Russian-type MIGs.

The Fifth Air Force said its planes shot down two Red jets, probably destroyed two and damaged six in three separate battles. It reported all American jets safe, but said two planes were shot down elsewhere by Communist ground fire. Both pilots were believed lost.

Six Tanks Knocked Out

Allied fighter pilots who roared out in support of ground troops fighting the Chinese attackers claimed they knocked out six of the Communist tanks and one 76-mm. self-propelled gun.

An Allied briefing officer said the tanks presumably were Russian-type T-34s.

The fighting was heavy throughout the evening.

Elements of a Chinese division swarmed down on the Allied position at about 4 p. m. Sunday.

With 20 tanks and three self propelled guns in support, the Reds quickly made penetrations between Allied units as they assaulted in three locations along an eight-mile line.

The heaviest wave hit the northeast flank of the Allied position, where the Chinese fought their way to the crest of two Allied hills.

After four hours of fighting the battle raged along almost the entire eight mile sector.

U. N. Artillery Lowers Sights

By 8 p. m. the Allied forces had rallied from their initial heavy attack and again counterattacked the Reds.

Allied artillery, which had been continually blasting the Reds a few thousand yards behind the lines as they moved up, lowered its sights to support the Allied counterattack.

Heavy action continued against strong points on the front for eight hours. In some local fights, Allied soldiers pushed up the slopes to within hand grenade range and blasted the Reds from their recently captured bunkers.

The Communists were hurled from all their prizes by midnight and the battle subsided to long range small-arms fire.

Western Big 3 Ministers Hold Informal Talks

PARIS, Nov. 4 (AP) — The foreign ministers of the Western Big Three began a series of informal talks here today amid reports the United States is shaping up a new formula for disarmament and for ending the cold war with Russia.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain, U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman were silent on these reports but they held closed door talks shortly after Eden arrived to lead the British delegation in the U. N. Assembly opening Tuesday.

The announcement from Washington that President Truman would address the United States Wednesday night on what is reported to be a new plan for strengthening world peace overshadowed all other developments here.

There have been indications that Secretary Acheson would outline to the General Assembly when he speaks, perhaps on Thursday, a list of conditions on which the United States would insist if permanent peace is to be obtained. The word that Truman would speak a few hours before his secretary of state addresses the U. N. gave greater emphasis to the weight the U. S. attaches to its proposals, still not divulged.

Angler Catches Tired Swimmer

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Elbert Sprecher, by his own words "a rank amateur" at surf-casting, stood at the end of a windswept rockaway jetty today and whipped his line into the pounding surf as if a life depended on it.

It did.

About 50 yards away Robert Stuls, 59-year-old all-weather swimmer, was being battered against submerged rocks of icy Reynolds Channel.

Three times Sprecher, 37, a Brooklyn television maintenance supervisor, cast his 36-pound test line at the shouting, thrashing swimmer.

On the third try the hook-weighted line coiled itself around Stuls' body.

Slowly, slowly, so that the line would not snap, the breathless fisherman reeled in, until finally anxious hands pulled the now semi-conscious swimmer to the dock.

Seven Lose Lives In Auto Collision

DEMING, N. M., Nov. 4 (AP) — Seven persons were killed and four injured early today in an auto collision on Highway 80 about 32 miles west of here.

Those killed in a west-bound car were Bob Blankenstein, 36, Lamesa, Calif.; Mrs. Blankenstein, 30; their son, Ray, 5, and Mrs. Doara Podsednik, 30, also of Lamesa.

Killed in an east-bound auto were Virgil T. Brown, 25; Donna Brown, 2, and Homer Brown, Jr., 1. All were from Clovis, N. M.

I. R. Funk of the New Mexico Highway Patrol said the accident apparently happened when the driver of the Brown car dozed and the machines met head-on.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — The community called Hollywood comes in for a lot of condemnation and ribbing. But people often overlook the fact that it can do things in the realm of charity and the selfless giving of its time that no other place on earth can approach. This includes New York.

Because of the community called Hollywood, and one of its citizens named John Haskell, British kids for many generations to come will have playing fields—American style—they never would have had otherwise. These fields will be constructed on some of the still bare spots levelled by Nazi bombers during the time when England, and especially the people of London, won the respect of even Anglophobes by taking it uncomplainingly on the chin.

Frank Sinatra, Dorothy Kirsten, Jimmy Van Heusen, famed Song Writer Jimmy McHugh and others have signed up (for zero) to fly to London for a performance at the London Colliseum on the night of Dec. 10. The charity show will be under the patronage of the king and queen, other members of the royal family, a fine man named Lord Luke, and the Variety Club of Great Britain.

The most enthusiastic support behind the project has been provided by the Duke of Edinburgh and Princess Elizabeth. This will be what amounts to Philip's first big effort in this line. He was insistant that the British share equally or more so in the responsibility for making it a success.

• — • — •

Hollywood will send its people—more stars soon will be added to the show—and the British will pay the freight at the box office. At the prices being asked, easily obtained in London when a Hollywood name is involved, about $75,000 will be raised at this one performance. But this will be only the beginning. At later dates other stars will hop the ocean to perform . . . and other bombsites will bloom like up-to-date American playgrounds.

This first one will be one of the more colorful charity events of the year. Captain John Harding, who with the Marquis of Queensberry, provided entertainment and a place to stay for countless GIs in London during the war, hear the distinguished committee of Englishmen backing the event.

Haskell's Hollywood and U. S. committee includes Bernard Gimbel, Dore Schary, Darryl Zanuck, Herbert Yates, Ambassador Warren Lee Pierson, Variety Club Pioneers John Harris of Pittsburgh and Bob O'Donnell of Dallas and Chief International "Barker" Mark Wolf, Bill Goetz and C. J. Tevlin of Hollywood, Robert L. Clarkson of American Express, Arthur B. Eisenhower, Thomas R. Watson, Charles Conway of Continental Can, P. W. Litchfield of Goodyear, Lowell P. Weicker of Squibbs and many others. The project has the support of the powerful Motion Pictures Producers Association.

The effect of American-type playing fields on present and future generations of British children should be interesting to watch. One can imagine what it would mean to us if we had insufficient playgrounds and if British type playing fields, British games, British expressions, mannerisms and codes of ethics were spread through Central Park in New York and greater and lesser parks in the United States.

• — • — •

If this were true we might in time become a nation of cricket players instead of baseball players, soccer experts instead of football fanatics.

GIs who passed through England during the war were the Johnny Appleseeds of baseball, American style football, and a host of sports-born words which became at least temporarily rooted in the British version of the English language.

The big show on the night of Dec. 10 will nurture the work of those Johnny Appleseeds for all times. We hope this charity will grow and spread its wings to other countries, for this is the finest type of foreign relations. It is hard to think of it not growing in the hands of the responsible and thoughtful men and women behind the move.

Cumberland Man Asks $100,000 In Damage Suit

Suit for $100,000 damages has been docketed in Federal Court at Baltimore by a Cumberland man against the Cumberland Fair Association, B. and O. Railroad and Edward Wellestat of Chicago as a result of an accident in which a train struck a tractor-trailer load of race horses at a crossing at Fairgo here November 20, 1949.

Charles E. Cameron is listed as the plaintiff in the case. His attorneys are Allan H. Murrell and Joseph G. Finnerty, both of Baltimore.

The declaration states that jurisdiction is founded upon the diversity of citizenship of the parties in the case and the matter in controversy exceeds $3,000 exclusive of interests and costs.

It was stated that Cameron was the owner of eight thoroughbred race horses which he purchased at Keeneland race track in Lexington, Ky., and he entered into an agreement with Wellestat to transport the horses to Fairgo.

It was also charged that the railroad failed to maintain the crossing into Fairgo and also failed to maintain a watchman and install any signals at the crossing.

The declaration stated that due to the negligence of the railroad the vehicle carrying the horses was stalled on the crossing and a Diesel engine and train of the B. and O. struck the vehicle killing four of the horses and also injuring the four others. It was claimed the injuries ruined the four horses for racing, the purpose for which they were bred.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Water marks on a glass cooking utensil may be removed by filling the utensil half full of hot water, adding two tablespoons of vinegar. Boil for a few minutes, then wash in hot, soapy water.

After dark, more than any other hour, your costume must express personality. Note these suggestions!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

To a man it makes no difference what fashion the lady of the evening wears . . . if "on her it looks good". But to accomplish that simple-sounding goal, every detail of any costume you wear after dark must conspire to intensify your type, be it demure, dashing, dramatic or distinguished.

Before entering the portal of your favorite mart in search of such raiment, study what is the latest on evening fashions and settle on the details of what would make news on you.

"Don't Dress" Evenings

Here's what the Powers Girls vote as tops: For "don't dress" evenings, the dinner suit with a bare top but strapped dress and a short flowing skirt under a curvy jacket, bolero or spencer; the "one for all dress" with a high neckline that converts to a decolletage with the removal of a dickie or a quick flip of a zipper; "party" separates to mix or mate.

For formal occasions, the girls go all out for the below-calf, bouffant, strapless dancing dress with a filmy stole, sleevelet or shoulder sleeve; the cover-up version of the long, slim and understated dinner dress; and the floor-sweeping, fabulous-skirted, stem-bodiced and elegant ball gown.

Fabrics never have been more luxurious, with lace, perhaps, in the lead. This traditional evening gossamer appears with new flourish gained through re-embroidery with "jewels" or cellophane that gives a jeweled effect; some laces are "velvetized" with chenille, run with ribbon or metal thread for more texture, or beaded with sequins or jet for more glamour.

Enchantment Aplenty

There's glamour aplenty, too, in the glimmering slipper satins, rustling taffetas, lustrous brocades, glittering lames, shimmering velvets, deep matelasses and richly quilted effects. Add net, tulle and chiffon to round off the strictly formal list of fabrics.

What of color? The range is limitless, with deeps and darks for informal dress-ups and subtle or brilliant shades for occasion dresses. Both black and white are present, as ever. Among the most important newcomers are a gleaming brown, taupe, blonde, gunmetal, red from bright to pink to deep ruby, molten gold, olive and emerald green, intense blue, purple-mauve, and plum.

Only you know which will point up the special savor of your looks and personality!

Meyers Pays Local Man For Awning Damage

Rather than face damage suit action in Trial Magistrates Court here, George A. Meyers, former local labor leader and chairman of the Communist Party in Maryland, has reimbursed the complainant who filed charges eight months ago.

Court attaches said Meyers' check for $87.10, plus costs, arrived last week and the docket was marked "settled and satisfied" Friday. He still faces a Federal conspiracy charge in Baltimore.

Action against Meyers, formerly of Lonaconing, was instituted by I. T. Holland, operator of Holland's Esso Service Station on Bedford Street, concerning damage to an awning.

Holland said the awning was damaged more than a year ago by a truck driven by Meyers. The vehicle was loaded with food, said to be donated by the Communist Party of Maryland and slated for the "destitute people of this distress area".

Miners of the Georges Creek district refused the food and the truck was driven to Cumberland while Meyers was making arrangements to dispose of the cargo. Parked at Holland's service station, the truck tore down an awning when it left.

After Meyers ordered the awning repaired, Holland said, he could not be contacted to pay the bill. However, local authorities went into action when they discovered he had been picked up by the FBI and held in Baltimore City Jail. The papers were served there.

Shortly afterwards, Meyers sent word that he was unable to appear here since he was in Federal custody for allegedly advocating the overthrow of the government. He asked for a postponement.

Five other Maryland Communists were nabbed by the FBI at the same time.

Short Gap Man Disappears Seven Weeks After Mate

Mystery surrounds the disappearance Friday of a Short Gap, W. Va., father of seven children whose wife also vanished nearly two months ago.

William Lee Dixon, a B. and O. Railroad trackman left his four-room frame home early Friday morning, leaving a wallet containing $449 and all his clothes, but taking with him a .22 calibre target pistol, West Virginia state police report.

He was last seen Friday afternoon walking up the West Virginia side of the Potomac River on the Western Maryland Railway tracks enroute towards the Rawlings section.

Dixon was seen by the track gang with whom he had last worked on Thursday, according to fellow employes.

The events leading up to this situation began on the night of September 14 when his wife, Mrs. Carrie Bell (Kuykendall) Dixon, 33, was reported seen getting into a car headed in the direction of Romney on W. Va. Route 28. She was accompanied by her second cousin, Miss Nellie Barnes, 18, also of Short Gap.

Eldest Child Gives Details

The oldest child, Allan Lee Dixon, a 14-year-old freshman at Fort Ashby High School, who is taking over the duties of fathering the family of small children, reported that his father had made many trips in search of the mother since then.

The boy said Saturday that Thursday night he and his father went to the Springfield section where the mother had reportedly been seen.

Allan stated that the two returned home and the father, Allan and the children went to bed at the father's suggestion.

The 14-year-old said that Friday morning he got out of bed at 5:45 a. m. to build a fire and wake his father for work, but Dixon was gone. The boy said the bed appeared to have been used.

It was then that the boy found the wallet containing $449 and the keys to Dixon's 1946 Pontiac automobile and 1948 Chevrolet truck. The boy told authorities that a .22 pistol was gone from its usual place.

Talked Of Suicide

Allan told State Police that his father had talked of suicide and seemed very despondent on their return from Springfield on Thursday night.

The boy reported that on Thursday his father paid the rent for the house and remarked: "I am now square with the world."

For two days the Short Gap Volunteer Fire Company has had searching parties out looking for the missing father.

One searcher said that Dixon, when last seen, was walking in the direction of Rawlings, where Dixon's mother, Mrs. Annie Guthrie, resides.

The grandmother has been caring for the children and last night took the three smallest ones home with her to Rawlings, neighbors reported.

The children left parentless, besides Allan, are Leona May, 13; Venda Lee, 10; Harold Junior, 9; Melvin Leroy, 7; Ruth Lee, 6, and Mary Alice, 5.

Cpl. O. G. Webley and Trooper J. F. Bowley returned to the West Virginia State Police Detachment last night and reported that an all-day search of the area resulted in no new leads.

The four oldest children were cared for last night by a brother of Dixon.

Killed In Korea

The Department of Defense announced that two area soldiers have been killed in action in Korea. They are: Cpl. Michael Kolson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kolson, 1903 Somerset Avenue, Windber, Somerset County, Pa.; and Pfc. John B. Crouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Crouse, Ridge Morgan County, W. Va.

It has a Way with Women

SOMETIMES we think that too little attention is given to the fair sex in automobile advertising.

After all, it's the woman of the house who has to do most of the shopping, which involves getting into tight places at the curb. And it's surprising what tight spots a Buick can fit into at a turn of the wheel.

It's the woman who likes complete freedom from things that it takes an engineer to operate—and a complete and utter freedom from mechanical complications is exactly what makes Dynaflow Drive* such a joy.

It's the woman who has an eye for style and fine fabrics—and a nose for economy. On both counts, a Buick is tops.

But we suspect something else. We suspect that a woman gets just as great a lift as a man from commanding this great-powered and trigger-quick bundle of vitality to bow to her will.

Here's a car to win any woman's heart—by its level-gaited stride—its willing response to her hand on the wheel—its smart style and its smart performance—its spaciousness and comfort—and its thrift.

How about taking time off, some afternoon, to boss around a Buick? It's a date that's bound to thrill you.

Oil Nationalization

Efforts to settle the long-drawn-out Anglo-Iranian oil controversy by mediation and direct negotiation have been redoubled since the UN Security Council decided to take no immediate action on the British Labor government's appeal to that body. Premier Mossadegh, who denies the authority of the Security Council or the International Court to act in a matter which he maintains is purely domestic, has been conferring at Washington with top American officials.

The United States, playing the role of mediator, is attempting to find a basis of settlement sufficiently promising to persuade Britain and Iran to resume direct negotiations. The fact that the new Conservative government in England has called the British ambassador home from Tehran for consultation suggests that it is ready to make a fresh approach to the problem.

Iran's great oil resources have been developed by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, in which the British government has held a controlling interest since 1914. Although the concession was to run for another 40 years, the Iranian government nationalized the industry last May and took over the company's properties in Iran. No oil has been produced there since midsummer. Early in October the Attlee government bowed to Tehran's demands and evacuated British personnel from the oilfields.

Iran has indicated willingness to compensate Anglo-Iranian for the nationalized properties and to deliver oil for transport by that company to its customers. But Mossadegh has declared that "Neither by trusteeship nor by contract will we turn over to foreigners the right to exploit our oil resources." How to get production going again under these conditions, and in view of Iran's admitted need for foreign oil technicians, presents a knotty problem.

American interest in settling the problem stems from more than the fact that Iran is an important source of oil. The fear is that failure to compose the differences with Iran might throw that strategically placed country into the arms of Moscow. Extension of Soviet influence to the Persian Gulf would threaten Western access to the vast oil resources of that whole region, threaten vital communication lines passing through the Middle East, and gravely weaken the position of the West in its power struggle with Russia.

Developments in Iran already have lowered Western prestige in the Middle East and complicated the task of building a new defense command in the eastern Mediterranean. Egypt's denunciation of treaties with Britain relating to the Suez Canal and the Sudan appears to have stemmed directly from that loss of prestige. But even if the controversies with Iran and with Eypt yield to negotiation, the rising spirit of nationalism in the Middle East is likely to make for increasing pressure to nationalize oil.

Most major foreign oil deposits are in underdeveloped countries. To exploit them requires large amounts of capital and great technological skill. As a result, oil development abroad has been dominated by a few giant companies, mostly British and American, operating under long-term concessions. Although the companies, particularly in the last few years, have been agreeing to terms more and more favorable to the countries granting the concessions, increased returns seem at best only to have put off demands for native control.

The Russian revolution led to seizure of foreign oil properties in the USSR in 1918. Mexico's ousting of foreign oil companies in 1938 produced a situation similar to that which has now arisen in Iran. Mexico, unlike Russia, compensated the foreign owners. Its national oil company soon proved its ability to operate the country's oil industry, but it has lagged in discovery of new oilfields. Expropriation by Bolivia and Brazil in the late 1930s likewise was followed by a dearth of new oil discoveries. Such experience, however, is not apt to put any curb on the nationalization movement currently appearing in the Middle East.

Jets Finding Targets?

To civilians thousands of miles from Korea communiques reporting the air war sound fantastic. That struggle has been growing in intensity and in proportions for several months as the Communists have put more and more jets into action. The stake is a bid for control of the skies, but until recently these battles have seemed more like maneuvers than the real thing.

That is because until recently many of them were bloodless or nearly so. Time and again there were reports of encounters between Russian MIGS and American Sabres that ended in no losses for either side. Occasionally the destruction of a MIG or two was reported. Less often the loss of a U. S. plane has been admitted.

Considering the speed of these aircraft, their powerful armament, their complicated firing apparatus,, the skill and daring of the pilots, these encounters have seemed anticlimactic. They have been reminiscent of the legendary king of France who, with all his men, marched up the hill—only to march back again.

That is not to say these battles have been meaningless. The Communists have been challenging U. S. mastery of the air. If U. S. fighters have not won a decision, they have been able to protect American bombers from enemy jets.

But now the picture has changed. Daily the destruction of MIGS is reported, and losses of U. S. planes are also admitted. Evidently the problem of hitting a plane traveling 500 miles an hour from another plane going just as fast is being solved. If so, future jet dogfights will be as deadly as they are spectacular.

Ethics In Government

It should not be surprising that the report on ethics in government released by a Senate subcommitee which investigated the subject should receive so much attention.

In some circles in Washington the report has been called "brutal" because it faces the unpleasant facts that have been unearthed in recent investigations. There has been speculation that this candor may lead to further "explosions" of one kind or another.

Most persons will agree with the committee that the nation cannot depend on laws alone to solve the problem of "influence" and "favoritism" in the federal establishment. That is a problem that must be solved at the polls.

Congress has been asked for an additional $1,700,000 to defray the cost of checking the loyalty of government employes. This would be approximately six-bits ahead, or expensive whitewash.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Scarlet Fever Toxins

Many vaccines have been devised to prevent scarlet fever. None proved satisfactory and, until the introduction of the wonder drugs, the disease lacked a real remedy. This was most discouraging, considering the amount of research that had been done on this malady. Nowadays the majority of physicians rely upon penicillin. Improvement is noted within 24 to 48 hours and, in addition, the antibiotic prevents the complications that in the past left so many victims with impaired kidneys, deafness, or eripipelas.

However, despite these advances, penicillin is not the ideal remedy because of the nature of scarlet fever, which is caused by the hemolytic streptococcus. This organism not only has a septic action upon the body but is capable also of producing toxic manifestations against which penicillin is powerless. But the preparation can control the source of the poison by combating the causative organisms.

The primary infection is in the mouth where it leads to redness, swelling, and all the symptoms of strep sore throat. During the sojourn of the germs in this area, they multiply and at the same time form a toxin that is absorbed into the blood stream. The latter is responsible for the toxic manifestations including headache, fever, delirium, rapid pulse, and the typical skin eruption. The rash is the most characteristic feature of scarlet fever. This had led many authorities to speak of the disease as "a strep throat with a rash."

One attack of scarlet fever confers everlasting immunity to the toxin but not to the infectious aspect of the streptococcus. As a result, we can suffer from any number of strep throats but they are not accompanied by the skin outbreak. In this respect we cannot develop scarlet fever again even tho the same germ has invaded the body. It is conceivable, however, that an adult with this type of strep throat can pass on the organisms to any susceptible person with whom he comes into contact and the ensuing disease will be scarlet fever if the person never has had this malady. This situation has made more than one physician question the feasibility of quarantine in scarlet fever, while permitting the victim of strep throat to be up and about.

In the past, treatment of scarlet fever was aimed at the toxin. This is the rationale behind convalescent serum, blood transfusions, and anti-streptococcal serum. Because the sulfonamides and penicillin have no effect upon the toxin these drugs were looked upon at first with skepticism but the results speak for themselves. The products knock out the strep germs so rapidly, there hardly is enough time for the manufacture of sufficient poison to harm the body. Johnny gets well in a hurry and rarely encounters the complications that made the disease the scourge it was before these remedies became available.

NAIL DETACHMENT

D. L. writes: What causes loosening of a big toe nail?

REPLY

Nail injury and infection are the most common causes. In older persons, poor circulation often is a factor.

SALT NEEDED

J. K. writes: Could a person die without salt?

Yes, but the craving may become so intense after being deprived for a long time that the individual would brave all dangers to get salt. A deficiency of this substance may lead to fatigue, loss of appetite, and nausea.

TATTOOING

M. G. writes: I want to be tattooed. Are there any risks involved?

REPLY

Yes. They are not as great as in the past when many old-time tattoo artists were none too clean and transmitted diseases such as syphilis and tuberculosis via their needles. More recently 17 victims of hepatitis were found to have been tatooed in one establishment in Panama City. From the esthetic standpoint, it has been said that most young men would never be tatooed if they had been 10 years older.

DISTANCE VISION

B. C. writes: How far away can a person with perfect vision see?

REPLY

To the horizon. In mountainous areas, on a clear day, many can see for more than 50 miles. Wider ranges unquestionably are possible when riding in a plane.

BURSITIS

M. C. writes: Can bursitis in the shoulder produce pain all the way down the arm?

REPLY

It not only can but often does. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bursitis.

NASAL POLYPS

H. S. writes: Recently I was told that nasal polyps may be caused by allergy. Would it be advisable to have the tests?

REPLY

Yes, because the two conditions are related.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Democratic Committeemen Revolted Against McKinney, Then Swallowed White House Pill; Vice Chairman India Edwards Resigned In Protest Against McKinney

WASHINGTON—The Democratic National Committee almost came apart at the seams last week when party officials journeyed to Washington to "elect" President Truman's hand-picked candidate as party chairman.

On the surface all was sweetness and light—just as sweet as the Princess Elizabeth, whom HST was entertaining while his party chieftains boiled. But underneath, controversy was so bitter that at one point top lady Democrat India Edwards resigned as vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

In the end, visiting Democrats came to heel in a most undemocratic manner. They did exactly what the White House wanted them to do—thanked outgoing Chairman Bill Boyle for his past services and dutifully elected Indiana's Frank McKinney, a little-known amateur, to replace him. It had the efficiency of a well-trained animal act.

The revolt which simmered, but never reached the boiling point, got its initial touch-off two weeks ago when President Truman called in Vice Chairman India Edwards and offered her Bill Boyle's place. Mrs. Edwards, an energetic and popular figure among all Democrats, declined on the grounds that the '52 election campaign should be run by a man. But she specifically and categorically asked that she be consulted on the selection of the new chairman. The President specifically and categorically agreed.

King-Maker Connelly

Thereafter Mrs. Edwards wrote the President, suggesting several prominent Democrats as national chairman, including Alabama's Sen. John Sparkman, Denver's ex-Congressman John Carroll and Price Administrator Mike Di Salle.

Meanwhile, unknown to Mrs. Edwards, Presidential Aide Matt Connelly was working feverishly to put over his own candidate. Connelly, who fancies himself a "king-maker" and the real "power behind the power," was plugging for either Pennsylvania's Federal Judge Jim McGranery or Indiana's Frank McKinney. When Connelly heard the McGranery would probably be opposed by Mayor Dave Lawrence of Pittsburgh and ex-Senator Francis Myers of Philadelphia, he devoted full time to promoting McKinney.

Connelly's maneuvering was so secret that neither retiring Chairman Bill Boyle nor Mrs. Edwards was aware of it.

Only on Monday, two days before the committee met, was Boyle informed by the President that McKinney was "the man." Boyle immediately got on the phone and passed the word along to key Democrats, including India Edwards. When she heard of it, she hit the ceiling, and promptly turned in her resignation as vice chairman.

The Ladies Revolt

News of Mrs. Edwards' resignation hit the Democratic committeemen simultaneously with the news that Frank McKinney was to be their new boss. Both caused consternation, the former because Mrs. Edwards is extremely popular, the second because McKinney was almost unknown to most Democratic leaders. Also Southern and Western Democrats felt that in view of the Vatican appointment, the new chairman should have been a Protestant rather than continuing the 30 years of Catholic party leadership.

Leaders of the revolt included Carl Thompson, Democratic committeeman from Wisconsin; the two Kansas committeemen, Carl Rice and Georgia Neese Clark; and Oregon's Monroe Sweetland. The latter suggested that a delegation make a personal protest direct to the President.

Accordingly, Iowa's Florence Lynch telephoned king-maker Matt Connelly to ask for an appointment. King-maker Connelly refused. He did not want anyone disturbing his plans to put across his hand-picked national chairman.

The day before the committee was to have its rubber-stamp session, therefore, Mrs. Lynch called a meeting in her room in the Mayflower Hotel. Attending were: Pennsylvania's Emma Guffey Miller, New Jersey's Mary Norton, Minnesota's Ione Hunt, and Wisconsin's Mrs. Dan Hoan. All agreed that as between India Ewards and Frank McKinney, Mrs. Edwards was their gal and they would stick by her through thick and thin. So, failing to get past king-maker Connelly for an appointment, they sent a letter to the President urging him to intervene personally with Mrs. Edwards and hinting that if he did not persuade her to stay, his hand-picked candidate might not be committee-picked next day.

Truman got the letter, hurriedly called Mrs. Edwards, apologized for the misunderstanding and urged her to remain. She agreed.

Thereafter, opposition to new Chairman McKinney gradually melted—especially after his resounding speech next day promising to clean out influence peddlers.

Biloxi Gambling Backfires

The Air Force may retaliate against Biloxi, Miss., whose wide-open gambling got Keesler Field into hot water with the Senate. What the Air Force may do is quietly abandon a lucrative, $43,000,000 expansion program at Keesler, thus depriving Biloxi of some juicy contracts and jobs.

The reason is that gambling has been so widespread in Biloxi that the Air Force couldn't keep Keesler-based personnel from gambling without placing the whole city off limits, including the leading hotels, bus station and even the basement of a church. Instead, Keesler Field tried to solve the problem by expanding the recreation program on the base, establishing a 10:30 p. m. curfew and appealing to the Biloxi authorities to clean up their town.

However, the gamblers continued to fleece 18-year-old recruits and others, until this columnist first exposed the whole sordid story last July. This columnist listed the number of gambling joints operating wide open, reported that one lieutenant had even committted suicide over gambling losses, and revealed that the majority of Keesler servicemen were around 18. The column then turned the evidence over to the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee. As a result, Senate investigators cracked down on Biloxi, and the Air Force got a black eye for not keeping its men out of the dives.

Real blame, according to Senate investigators, rests squarely on Biloxi authorities, who winked at law violations and openly conspired with the gamblers. Since the gambling trade lured free-spending tourists into the town, which in turn lowered local taxes, the townspeople refused to get stirred up over young recruits squandering one-third of their pay.

That is why the Air Force may now retaliate by abandoning its $43,000,000 expansion program at Keesler, which will cost the city more than it has been able to pocket in 10 years of playing footsie with the racketeers. For most of the gambling profits don't stay in Biloxi. They go to the big-time operators in Manhattan.

Calculated Risks

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 4—I hear young people today say that opportunities aren't what they once were. To a certain extent this is true. When the government takes so much of everyone's earnings, some people lose their incentive to work hard. But there are lots of opportunities still with us provided we are willing to take the risk.

Risk And Character

As I look back over my 50 years of business experience, I find there is a basic difference in the character of men 50 years ago and now. Our forefathers before us had an abundance of moral and spiritual gumption. These character qualities enabled them to make every risk a calculated risk with a fighting chance of paying off.

Some young chaps today inherit their fathers' businesses. The fathers obviously had what it takes. They took the chance and earned their successes without the advantages of education. But the sons won't do it, for all their book learning. Why? Too many youths today seem to be interested only in a "sure thing." They are afraid to take a risk. They prefer the sure bet of $60 a week salary rather than a chance to earn $100 a week commission.

Risk And Moral Values

One reason is that our youths are being trained by schools and colleges to depend too heavily upon science and technology. Technical and scientific advance alone cannot bring us courage. This kind of materialism could lick America just as it will ultimately lick Russia. Young people, wholly dependent upon technology, find that when the going gets tough there is nothing there to lean on. I wonder if during my lifetime we haven't gained in the material things of life only to lose ground in the realm of the moral and spiritual.

Thousands of inventors have died poverty stricken, although their ideas may have been excellent. Before an inventor's idea can take shape and come rolling off the assembly line in the form of some sort of product, someone must be found who has faith enough in the idea, faith enough in the inventor and in the future prosperity of his country, to be willing to risk financing the invention. The willingness to take a calculated risk and make it pay off springs from a spiritual fountain of courage within the individual. Courage is one thing of which our fathers had an abundance and which I find lacking today in most young men.

Risk And The Future

About 2400 years ago a Greek statesman, Pericles, said, "The secret of liberty is courage." He didn't mention bank accounts or social security. What he was telling his countrymen was that if they wanted to assure Greece of an everlasting future they needed to develop some good old-fashioned moral and spiritual fortitude. I have faith enough in the future of America to believe that we are on the threshold of a new prosperity, plus longer periods of peace.

The age of materialism in which we live has given the world better food, better clothing, better shelter, better transportation, and better communication. I hope that with these material comforts more individuals now have a greater amount of time to give to the spiritual side of life. Only by now bring into balance, at this crucial time in world history, things of the spirit and things material, can we develop in the coming generations the kind of intelligence and courage which is willing to take a calculated risk.

What About Joe Stalin?

The armies of Joe Stalin aren't half as dangerous as a siege of frustration, materialism, and cynicism. But greater spiritual development can offset these grave dangers—although it will take all the skill we as parents, and educators and community leaders have to move in that direction.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Fifth Amendment

Professor Henry Steele Commager of Columbia University once wrote:

"Certainly it is a gross perversion not only of the concept of loyalty but of the concept of Americanism to identify it with a particular economic system...."

This is undoubtedly true but it is unimportant. I do not believe that any question of an "economic system" is involved in the contest which is being waged in this country against the Communists, against subversive or corrupt persons. Certainly when a protest is made against a thieving tax collector, the issue is not whether he is a capitalist or a Socialist, a Republican or a Democrat. The point is that we are shocked by the fact that thieves have worked their way into government. We challenge them as thieves.

So Communists are not opposed because they believe in government ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange but because they are agents, spies, provocateurs for an alien power, for a government that uses propaganda, infiltration and corruption as a means of military conquest.

Those, therefore, who use the Fifth Amendment, which they have a legal right to use, to avoid giving information concerning this conspiracy are morally guilty of aiding those who would destroy this country.

Here is a definite conflict between a legal right and a moral responsibility. Which shall prevail?

The Fifth Amendment provides:

"No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation."

Those who, in Communist cases, claim immunity from questioning under the terms of the Fifth Amendment do so under the words, "nor shall be compelled in any criminal case be a witness against himself."

Actually, it is no crime in the United States to be a Communist but it is illegal to engage in a conspiracy to destroy our government. It is not illegal to oppose the capitalist system but it is illegal to be a spy.

A congressional committee is not a court of law and does not try cases, but the information gathered by such a committee may be used by prosecuting officials to obtain an indictment for a crime. While it is not possible to claim double jeopardy in connection with a congressional committee, it is possible to claim self-incrimination.

Although no one is to be adjudged guilty of anything because he has been subpoenaed by a congressional committee or questioned by it, it is reasonable to assume that if a witness claims the immunity of the Fifth Amendment, he knows that he has done something which could be self-incriminating. In a word, he admits moral guilt where no legal charge has yet been made.

This right that no person may be required to incriminate himself is strictly personal. No one may plead that the provision of information will incriminate a third person. Therefore, those witnesses before congressional committees who refuse to name others, are wrong when they claim immunity under the Fifth Amendment unless they have conspired with these others to commit a crime. In effect, when they make such a plea they establish the existence of a conspiracy to which the pleader has been a party.

What it comes down to is this: While a witness may invoke the Fifth Amendment for silence, you and I are entitled to assume that he does it because, in his own judgment, he had committed an infamous crime. So far as public opinion is concerned, he places himself in the awkward position of confessing to participation in improper, even in illegal actions, in spite of the fact that public officials may not know of or may not be able to prove his guilt.

Lawyers, who advise clients not dependent upon public opinion to claim immunity under the Fifth Amendment, may be sound. When they so advise motion picture, television, or radio folks or public officials, like tax collectors, to do likewise, they risk their clients' future because public censure is inevitable. The Fifth Amendment is wrecking careers.

Churchill's Victory

By MARK SULLIVAN

After the victory of the Conservative party and Winston Churchill in the recent British election, reaction in the United States tended to put strong emphasis on the outcome. Much of the interpretation held that socialism in Britain had not merely had a check but a reverse. Which it was depends largely on whether Prime Minister Churchill undertakes to undo the Labor government's nationalization of the iron and steel industry and whether he succeeds.

If Mr. Churchill moves toward this, the Socialist party leaders can be expected to resist desperately. For them, undoing of the nationalization of iron and steel would be ideological life or death, and the temperament and zeal of some of them justifies Winston Churchill's phrase "Socialist bigots." Their implacable determination and the importance they attach to the nationalization of this industry was made plain in the original debate on nationalizing iron and steel that took place in late 1948.

Steel's Importance

One Labor party member said that "no Labor government concerned about its future can possibly afford not to nationalize iron and steel." The reason lies in the keystone importance of steel in any country's economy. This was recognized by Conservative and Labor members alike. Conservative member Oliver Lyttleton, mentioning the industries previously taken over, said "if we add state ownership of iron and steel....in reality private industry will have ceased to exist effectively." Confirmation came from a great liberal newspaper, "The Manchester Guardian": "The natural outcome of the steel bill is now becoming convincingly clear; there is no point after this at which the advance toward the extinction of private enterprise in British industry could be halted." To the same effect a member of the Labor cabinet, R. G. Strauss, said that the socializing of steel "removes from the private sector of our economy to the public the industry which is the citadel of British capitalism."

The zeal of the Labor party for nationalizing iron and steel ignored not only objections within Britain but a concern that might arise in the United States. If the British iron and steel industry were completely nationalized, with the government as the one seller and one buyer in international trade, practicing what Winston Churchill called "national state trading," the United States as a country practicing competitive private industry would be under a handicap. Moreover the United States as the leading country practicing competitive private enterprise, as indeed the spearhead of that system in the world, would feel natural concern about the spread of socialism as an ideology.

Resisting Together

But this feeling had no official expression in the United States and no effective unofficial expression. At the time the iron and steel industry was nationalized in Britain, we were making large gifts to Britain under the Marshall plan and otherwise. In roll calls in Congress on these appropriations, the opposition was practically negligible. Our position was determined by a conclusive fact, we and Britain were together in resistance to Russian communism.

In Britain, however, attention was called to the condition by the London "Economist": "Americans have been meticulous in not interfering in (our) domestic political concerns but ....it is surely only common prudence not to do anything, if it is not strictly necessary, that might compromise th future prospects of the Marshall plan." On another occasion "The Economist" admonished that "Labor members of Parliament would do well to remember that their government would have been out of office in collapse and chaos years ago if American capitalism had not been willing to subsidize it."

In all this there is light upon the probable attitude of the British Labor party now. If it would not refrain from nationalizing steel and iron in the conditions of 1948, it is likely now to practice the strongest resistance it can to de-nationalizing the industry. Without doubt American opinion will hope that Prime Minister Churchill undertakes the de-nationalizing and that he succeeds. Likewise without doubt American opinion is more comfortable with Britain under a Conservative government and the leadership of Winston Churchill. As respects help which Britain needs, our readiness to give it under the Labor government is likely to be even greater now.

Another Atom Test May Be Held Today

LAS VEGAS, Nev. 4 (AP) —Early resumption of the nuclear experiments at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site was forecast today.

With clear weather, it seemed likely that the fifth in the current series of tests would be held tomorrow morning. It could be the last and most interesting of the series.

There has been considerable speculation about the possibility of an underground burst test. It has been reported, unofficially, that a 50-foot shaft has been dug on the Yucca Flat site.

Six Persons Killed In Highway Smashup

MOULTRIE, Ga., Nov. 4 (AP) — Six persons, including three aviation cadets, were killed early today in the worst wreck in Colquitt County's history.

Deputy Sheriff C. R. Ranew said the two cars piled head on into each other on an open stretch of road, apparently at tremendous speeds, and with no other traffic on the highways.

Two other aviation cadets were in critical condition at the Spence Field Air Force Base.

Hoover Backs Plan For Tab On Spending

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP) — Herbert Hoover today endorsed a proposal to set up a new congressional watchdog committee on military spending.

The former president wrote Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) that with appropriations running into many billions "something more than the normal congressional committees are essential for watchdog purposes."

The Hoover statement came at a time when some lawmakers were urging closer congressional scrutiny over military spending. Some of those demands tied in with reports that delivery of some arms items has been delayed by last-minute changes in specifications and by military officials' demands for perfection in the products.

J. & L. Pay Incentive Plan Is Approved

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 4 (AP)—Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation disclosed today it has won governmental approval for a new pay incentive plan which allows production workers to boost earnings as much as 35 per cent.

The plan, approved by the Wage Stabilization Board and the CIO United Steelworkers, covers some 25,000 employes. It replaces a former "work-load incentive" which covered only about 700 workers.

Police Balk Murder So Man Kills Himself

RICHMOND, Calif., Nov. 4 (AP) — Passersby last night saw a man march a woman at gun point through eight blocks of city streets toward a vacant lot. They called police.

Officers closed in as the couple reached the lot. The woman, screaming, broke and ran. The man promptly lay down and fatally shot himself through the head.

Police said they had interrupted Donald Munson, 28, an iron worker, as he was on the point of killing his wife, Jacqueline, after she threatened to leave him.

Two Meet Fiery Death

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 4 (AP)—Flames engulfed a Greyhound bus and an automobile after they collided today, burning two occupants of the car fatally.

The 23 passengers and driver aboard the bus — five of them injured — scrambled out or were carried to safety through emergency doors.

Red Move Discounted

BERLIN, Nov. 4 (AP)—East Germany's Communist president, Wilhelm Pieck, appealed directly to West German President Theodor Heuss today to confer in Berlin on arrangements for all-German elections.

The move was immediately discounted in Bonn as another Soviet-sponsored peace propaganda trick aimed to woo West Germany away from the Western Powers.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

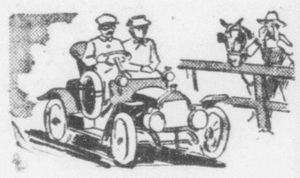
May handwriting aid diagnosis?

Answer: Yes, writes Dr. Anita M. Muhl, California psychiatrist. When analyzed by a trained person with a good scientific background, handwriting may be a useful aid to diagnosis, especially in psychiatry and delinquency. Emotional instability, for example, is shown by marked irregularities in the writing angle, sudden changes in pressure and size, etc. Psychiatric treatment may alter handwriting noticeably. Your writing — like everything else you do—expresses your personality, but as Dr. Muhl says, the main use of trying to evaluate it should be to recognize the warning signals of emotional disturbance.

Do all habits have a meaning?

Answer: Yes. The idea that you do anything "for no reason" is contrary to all that modern psychology has discovered. True, some writers talk of "empty habits," meaning habits that are kept up after their original purpose has been outgrown which might apply to nail-biting if it started as a hunger reaction. But the fact is, the emotions, such as fear or anger which the hunger aroused may persist in the unconscious mind as an attitude toward life long after the person is no longer hungry. The reason why any habit is kept up is that it provides some more or less unconscious satisfaction.

(Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)



Is the desire for progress universal?

Answer: Yes. Whoever you are, you were born with an instinctive urge to grow up and to progress from primitive to complex, "civilized" activities and satisfactions—for example, from filling your stomach with milk to filling your mind with knowledge. But over against this, you are subject to the no less universal impulse to "regress" or go back when the road ahead appears too steep or full of danger—to try to get what you want by methods that worked when you were a baby but are not well suited to adult life. A typical instance of regression is bewailing your hard luck instead of trying to change it.

Local B. And O. Engineer Completes 50 Years Service

A half century of service on the B. and O. Railroad came to an end for Harry G. Shipper, 527 City View Terrace, on Thursday morning when he stepped down from the cab of his Diesel-electric locomotive, of which he was the engineer.

He entered the service of the B. and O. in 1901 at the age of 19 and was promoted to engineer in 1912 after serving as a fireman. He compiled an excellent record during his 39 years as an engineer, never having delayed a train or been late for work.

Mr. Shipper has been a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for 40 years. He was enrolled in Division 352 at Brunswick and Division 954 of Cumberland.

A native of Martinsburg, W. Va., he is the brother of Mrs. S. S. Felker and Attorney A. H. Shipper of Martinsburg. The late Dr. James H. Shipper was also a brother.

Mr. Shippers' hobbies are gardening, hunting and fishing. He is also an ardent motorist and this winter he and his wife will tour the South.

A son, Herbert G. Shipper, 810 Trost Avenue, is also a B. and O. worker, being a freight conductor on the run between Cumberland and Hagerstown.

Mortar Men Hidden But Not Chinese Reds

EAST-CENTRAL FRONT, Korea, Nov. 4 (AP) —"You're asking me to murder a hundred men!"

These words from an artillery commander crackled in the earphones of Sgt. 1-c Alfred Greening in response to his call for fire on a position held by a U. S. mortar company which the Chinese were about to overrun.

"It's my responsibility; go ahead and fire," replied Greening, of Columbia, S. C.

The fire crashed down. When the smoke cleared, the mortar men, all safe in bunkers, crawled out and counted 26 dead Chinese. The remaining Chinese fled into the line of fire of other Allied troops.

What the artillery commander had not known was that Greening, the spotter, had signalled the mortar men and had made sure they and their weapons were inside the fortified dugouts before calling for fire.

Police Bar Doors Of Tehran University

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 4 (AP)—Torn by Communist agitation, Tehran University shut down today until further notice. Hundreds of armed police barred the doors.

A crowd of students estimated to number 1,000 milled around outside. Angry and defiant student leaders harangued the crowd, denouncing the shutdown order, but the meeting broke up without incident after agreeing to meet again tomorrow.

In another part of the city, however, about 500 anti-Communist students from Alborz (formerly American) College marched on the headquarters of the Communist-directed Partisans of Peace. En route they met about 500 pro-Communists and fist-fighting broke out. Police quelled the fighting in short order.

"This bargain rings the bell with us!"

"We're keen on bargains in our family! And just to find out how big a bargain telephone service really is, I figured out what it costs us by the hour. How much? Only a fraction of a cent per hour!"

When you stop to count all the things that telephone service does ::: at such low cost ::: you can see why so many families call it the biggest bargain ever.

And in these days of high prices, bargains are hard to come by. Since 1939, food, clothing, and other items have gone up in price as much as 90, 100% or even more. But the cost of telephone service to our customers has increased on the average only 27%!

Telephone service does give you your money's worth and more. Every day, its value grows ::: and it is being called on more and more to help speed national production and to meet the growing communications needs of Civil Defense.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4 (INS) — I heartily applaud the choice of Tamara Toumanova, by 20th Century-Fox, to play Anna Pavlowa in "Tonight We Sing," the Sol Hurok story. Tamara is one of our greatest ballerinas and, moreover, she looks like a younger, prettier Pavlowa with the same brunette coloring and sharp features.

Years ago, I knew Pavlowa in Chicago, where she made her first and only picture. I frequently interviewed the petite, birdlike woman whose fame as a dancer has never been topped.

Naturally, the Pavlowa role will be one of the biggest in the picture, for it was Hurok who brought her to this country and was her manager for years.

Tamara was terribly disappointed over her own screen debut several years ago in a film for her husband, Casey Robinson. But she is so excited over her new picture break with George Jessel that she has cancelled her tour of the Scandinavian countries.

What a story of triumph over disaster is Robin Raymon's return to Hollywood in "The Sniper" at Columbia.

Let me tell you where this actress has been for the past year: She has been lying in a darkened room in a sanitarium outside Paris with her face so shockingly disfigured she never expected to be able to work again.

Just when her career had been going good in Hollywood last year, she had stumbled over her dog in a dark hall and the frightened animal had attacked her savagely, tearing away half her face.

But months of skin grafting and a fine plastic operation have fixed her up as good as new and she's back to resume her career. .

Chatter in Hollywood:

Fernando Lamas has moved out of his house until Mrs. Lamas returns to South America, and is now being seen openly with Lana Turner. They were at the Macayo Restaurant a few nights ago, and the Mexican string orchestra serenaded them throughout the evening. At Friday's premiere of "An American In Paris," Lana will arrive on the arm of the very attractive South American.

When I kept hearing that Fernando had fallen hard for Turner I thought it was just a press stunt for "The Merry Widow," but apparently he's really palpitating for MGM's glamor girl, and she's not indifferent to him.

Lana is dividing her time between Cy Howard and Lamas, and the betting is on the MGM actor.

The Victor Mature marriage, in spite of all denials, is very shaky again. Last Tuesday Vic and his wife were the guests of honor at the Cocoanut Grove for the special Hawaiian evening, but when it came time for Vic to take a bow he was among the missing. He and Dorothy had a tiff after their arrival and Vic sent a note backstage regretting that he had to leave.

At Ciro's a few nights later he was all by himself. Perhaps, by the time this is in print they will have made up, but they certainly shouldn't take these battles into public places.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Come June the stork will be flapping his wings over the home of the Preston Sturges.

Eddie Mannix believes now that Clark Gable cannot get his divorce in Nevada, he'll come back home and make that picture. At any rate, Eddie will talk to him.

Never knew sexy Rexy Harrison had a grown son until word came that Harrison's son by a previous marriage will represent England as a ski contestant in the February Olympic Games in Oslo.

Dagmar, in a low cut gown that had everyone gasping, at Mocambo with her husband, Danny Dayton. He got well in an awful hurry.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

The Big Bertha cannon with which the Germans shelled Paris in World War I was named after Bertha Krupp.

Mr. Silvers Plays Mr. Berle

Uncle Miltie has come a long way —perhaps a little too far for his own good. The suspicion exists that he is inspired and was the fictionalized hero, if that's the word for that particular character, of at least one novel. Now, he's the hero — that word again— of a very funny Broadway musical, "Top Banana," which may be the lousiest title of the year.

John Crosby

At any rate, the authors — Hy Kraft, who wrote the book; Johnny Mercer, who wrote the songs and lyrics — and Phil Silvers, who plays the part, certainly must have had Mr. Berle in mind when they fashioned this extraordinary exuberent lampoon of a top television comic. Right away, it's my guess, the authors and Mr. Silvers were faced with a rather serious dilemma. Television manages to caricature itself so ably that it's difficult to improve on the original. Also, Mr. Berle's own behavior both on and offstage is of such an extravagant nature that it's almost impossible to go him one better, short of flying off the stage altogether.

•—•—•

Nevertheless, Mr. Silvers, clearly the only man in the world who could handle the assignment, manages to surround all of Mr. B's eccentricities, notably what might be described charitably as a mild case of megalomania, with winning charm and great affability. Believe me, that is no easy task; the original has worked toward this goal for some time now and he still has a considerable distance to go. My own response to the dramatization of Mr. Berle is perhaps a little more open-hearted than just everyone's because of the special nature of the work I do.

To me there is something fundamentally hilarious and at the same time rather poignant in a man who has to cart around four gag-writers and yes-men to supply him with jokes and, more importantly, to laugh at their own jokes after they are restated by Mr. Silvers. I'm also intrigued by the idea of a man who has writers around to furnish him similes to conclude the sentence "It's as warm as ...." while he's phoning his girl. This is a very nice idea indeed, and I wish I could afford some writers to supply me with witty telephonic repartee, my own behavior on telephones being so cryptic as to be completely unintelligible except to a few close friends who, over a period of years, have managed to figure out what the grunts mean.

In fairness to Mr. Berle, it ought to be pointed out that he doesn't need four writers or any writers around to supply him with jokes. His head is the repository of more old jokes than Joe Miller ever heard of, a good many of which have found their way into "Top Banana." Somehow they seem funnier coming off a stage than they do coming out of my TV set, conceivably because Berle takes them seriously and Silvers doesn't.

"Top Banana," I had better explain right now, is no "Pal Joey," not even a "Call Me Madam." Well, let's come right out with it; it ain't art, it's just theater and frequently not very good theatre. Whenever the stage is bereft of Mr. Silvers and his retinue of yes-men, chiefly so that the authors can further a preposterous and hopelessly unnecessary love affair between a couple of juveniles, "Top Banana" starts coming apart at the seams. Fortunately, Mr. Silver's talents are extensively employed throughout most of the two hours and the show is a personal triumph for one of the most underrated comics in the business.

It's also something of a triumph for Mr. Berle. You can now take Berle straight on his own TV show. Or you can get him in book form. Or you can go watch Mr. Silver's elaborations on the original theme. That's quite a lot of Berle and it's my guess that it pretty well exhausts the Berle possibilities for the time being. About the only thing left to be written about Uncle Miltie is a play in blank verse by Christopher Fry, starring Laurence Olivier. I expect that'll be along next season.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

TEACH BY EXCEPTIONS

ONE of the best ways to teach a beginner in any subject is by giving him general rules for situations which are encountered frequently, then furnish the main exceptions to them. Such is the case with the defense policy of continuing the suit which had been led originally, with the hope of establishing one or more low cards of it and scoring them. But there are many cases in which either that suit seems hopeless, after you look at the dummy and the first trick, or else some other suit is clearly indicated as more advisable.

	♠ K 4 ♥ Q 8 3 ♦ A Q 2 ♣ Q J 10 7 5
♠ 5 3 2 ♥ A 10 4 2 ♦ 8 7 6 ♣ 9 8 3	N W E S	♠ J 9 8 7 ♥ K J 6 5 ♦ J 10 5 ♣ A 4
	♠ A Q 10 6 ♥ 9 7 ♦ K 9 4 3 ♣ K 6 2

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
1 NT	Pass	3 NT

Not so much because he liked the suit, but because he disliked leads from his other holdings, East led the diamond J, which the A won. North led the club 5, East holding up and the K winning. The club 2 to the A then put East face to face with the crisis. He reflected on his partner's play of the 6 on the diamond lead and decided his partner might hold the 2, so that the 6 was encouraging, and also the Q.

That, plus the instruction he had received about hammering with the same suit against a No Trump contract, caused him to lead the diamond 10 to the next trick. The show was then over. North could have taken twelve tricks if he had risked the spade 10 finesse, but that would have been silly when he could without danger rake in more than his contract. He scored three in spades, four in clubs and four in diamonds to have 11.

After his club A was knocked out, East should have felt that North probably would run game, as soon as he got back in the lead. The moment was urgent. He should have looked for some possible way to get five tricks before North had any more. The sole hope would have been that West held the heart A. Seeing that, he should have led back the heart 5. That would have trapped North's Q and beaten the contract.

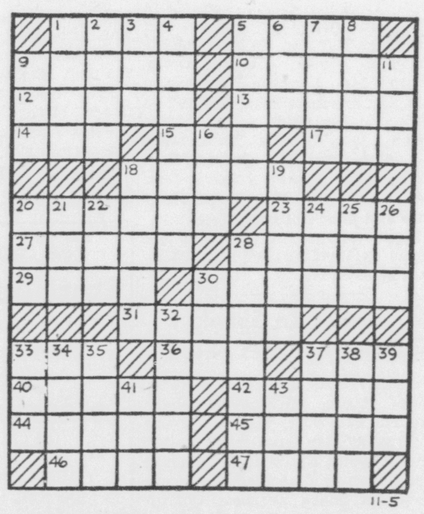
Saturday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

I Z L Q S M W Z D E L Y I J D L A E Z; M L
M X L S S W A R R S' L Y Z F M R P S W Y A.
F D J P M J Q J Z X X—X Y D P Z X C Z D E Z.

Mineral Group Asks Controls On Deer Hunting

Farmers, Sportsmen Discuss Problems

KEYSER, W. Va. — A group of 26 Mineral County landowners and sportsmen have decided to ask the county Wild Life Association to propose a state law to provide controlled deer hunting in this county.

Citing reports of crop damage blamed on deer, the group suggested that the law provide permits for farmers and orchardists whose crops have suffered. The landowners would be required to specify whether he wished to kill a doe or a buck.

Charles T. Taylor, who proposed the plan, said the group would ask the Wild Life Association to incorporate the provision as an amendment to that group's proposal for changes in State Senate Bill 243.

Paris Smith, representing the Wako Gun Club, said he opposed the coming open season because he feared deer herds would become extinct.

E. K. Smith, owner of 206 acres of land in the New Creek section, said there are plenty of deer in that section but that crop damage to date has been negligible.

Ray Wiseman said he felt Mineral and Grant county property owners are for the most part opposed to any open season on does.

Allegany And LaSalle Clash Tonight

Campers Play Elkins Here On Saturday

Explorers, Ridgeley Meet Friday; Jayvee Teams Tangle Today

Kept idle by rain on Friday night, Allegany and LaSalle have rescheduled their 23rd annual football game for tonight at 8 o'clock at the local stadium.

It will be the eighth start on a 10-game schedule for Coach Robert E. Pence's Campers who have won three, lost three and tied one. Allegany plays the Elkins High Tigers (8-1) here Saturday night and windup the campaign by playing Fort Hill (6-1) on Thanksgiving Day.

Geatz To Make Debut

Norman F. Geatz, Jr., will make his debut as LaSalle's head coach tonight. He takes over a team that has won only one game and lost four in a row. After the AHS contest, the Explorers play Ridgeley at the stadium Friday, Altoona Catholic away November 16 and Beall in Frostburg on Thanksgiving Day.

In the 22 games played since 1928, Allegany holds a 15-5 advantage in victories over LaSalle. Two contests ended in ties.

Marty Mullaney and Bobby Arnone will captain LaSalle tonight. Allegany's co-captains will be Joe Hager and Ronnie Sisk.

The officials will be John Shelton, Charles Bolyard, William "Bee" Orndorff and Joe Stanislawczyk.

Jayvee Teams Clash

Fort Hill's Jayvees and the Romney High junior varsity are scheduled to clash today at Fort Hill at 3:30 o'clock. Fort Hill is undefeated and tied once. The Little Sentinels hold a 12-6 win over Romney.

The Fort Hill varsity's game with Westminster High School was rained out Friday night and again postponed on account of wet grounds Saturday night.

Fort Hill had hoped to get this game played before the finale with AHS on Turkey Day but the matter of finances could wipe the Westminster game off the schedule this season.

Westminister has proposed that the game be played there Friday, November 16, which is an open date on the schedules of both schools.

Beall gained 210 net yards rushing, 28 yards passing and racked up 10 first downs. Ridgeley was limited to four first downs, collected 73 net yards rushing and gained eight yards through the air.

At Romney, the high powered Farmington High farmers eked out a 6-0 decision over the Romney High Pioneers Saturday in a game that was preceded by exercises marking the dedication of Cooper Field.

Terps Remain Unbeaten, Play Middies Next

Crush Missouri, 35-0; Duke Ties Georgians

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Southern Conference came out of its wackiest weekend of the 1951 football season yesterday (Sunday) with Maryland still undefeated and three teams tied for the league lead.

Maryland, the nation's fourth-ranking team, scored its second straight shutout by pasting Missouri, 35-0, for the Terps' sixth victory. The Terps crossed the goal in every period.

Joe Horning, substitute safety man for the Terps, romped 100 yards with an intercepted pass.

Locked for first place in the conference standings are Maryland, Virginia Military and Duke. Each has a 3-0 loop mark. VMI climbed to the top perch with the Terps and the Dukes Saturday by routing Davidson, 35-13.

VPI Gets Worst Beating

Coaches who undoubtedly were thinking that the profession of teaching fellows how to play football is the world's worst were Wake Forest's Tom Rogers, South Carolina's Red Enright, Virginia Tech's Frank Moseley, Pennsylvania's George Munger and Georgia Tech's Bobby Dodd.

Rogers, Enright, Munger and Dodd all thought their respective squads would win. But none came through. Moseley didn't expect his Virginia Tech charges to beat Washington and Lee. But he certainly wasn't expecting the Techmen to suffer their worst defeat since they started intercollegiate football in 1892. Washington and Lee crushed Tech, 60-0.

Wake Forest, which reached its peak a week ago to batter North Carolina, 39-7, was no match for Clemson, a team smarting from two successive setbacks. Clemson downed the Demon Deacons, 21-6, as Billy Hair scored on a 42-yard run, passed for another touchdown and set up the third.

South Carolina's Gamecocks, who recovered from bad beatings by Duke and North Carolina to wallop Clemson, bowed to underdog George Washington, 20-14. The Colonials made the winning touchdown a second after the game ended on Bob Cilento's four-yard pass to Jack Baumgartner.

Duke Ties Tech

Fifth-rated Georgia Tech was held to a 14-14 deadlock by Duke. Tech was a 15-point favorite.

William and Mary's Indians, a three-touchdown underdog, hammered Pennsylvania, 20-12. W&M quarterback Dickie Lewis kept the Quakers dizzy with his faking and feinting and his brilliant running on the split-T keep play.

Top-ranked Tennessee handed North Carolina a 27-0 licking. Virginia jolted The Citadel, 39-0. West Virginia flogged Western Reserve, 35-7.

In Friday night activity, the University of Louisville routed North Carolina State, 26-2; Boston College whipped the University of Richmond, 21-7, and little Wofford edged Furman, 14-12.

This week's schedule:

Friday night—Newberry at Furman.

Saturday—Wake Forest at Duke; South Carolina at West Virginia; Davidson vs. North Carolina State at Charlotte, N. C.; Virginia Tech at William and Mary; Washington and Lee at Tennessee; University of Richmond at Stetson University; North Carolina at Virginia; Virginia Military at Georgia Tech; Maryland vs. Navy at Baltimore, Md.; Boston College at Clemson; The Citadel at Army.

Eagles Top Steelers

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 4 (INS) — Adrian Burk threw three touchdown passes today to lead the Philadelphia Eagles to a surprisingly easy 34 to 13 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers before 19,649 fans in Pittsburgh.

The Eagles scored twice in the second quarter, two more in the third and a final td in the fourth period to break a three-game losing streak.

Burk whipped a 22-yard scoring pass to Bob Walston, a 12-yard toss to Pete Pihos and 31-yards to Dan Sandifer, whose earlier punt runbacks had set up two touchdowns. Steve Van Buren and Jerry Cowhig tallied a touchdown each.

Joe Geri booted a 22 and 40-yard field goals for the Steelers and Jerry Shipkey scored their touchdown on a 20-yard run-back of an intercepted pass.

Score by periods:

Steelers	3	7	3	0—13
Eagles	0	14	13	7—34

Lynn Beightol, former Fort Hill backfield ace, track star and basketeer, engineered both Maryland scores as the Little Terps lost to the Navy plebes on Friday by the score of 13-12.

He passed to end Stan Fischer for an 85-yard touchdown and plunged over from the two-yard mark.

It was the first time Lynn had played on the losing side since early in the 1949 season when Fort Hill lost to Washington and Lee of Arlington, Va.

Beightol was on the winning side in 22 consecutive games—17 at Fort Hill and five with the Maryland varsity. He also got into Saturday's game when Maryland walloped Missouri.

Norvel Lee, the negro heavyweight from Washington, D. C., who whipped Ed Knepp and Harry Mazick and lost to Al Schlimm in shows promoted here by Bobby Greene, has been nominated for the National AAU's historical Sullivan Award, the choice for which is made in December.

The Sullivan Award goes annually to the outstanding amateur athlete in the United States.

Lee is the current AAU heavyweight champion, having outclassed the field at Boston last April.

Norvel lost a split decision to Schlimm in a five-round match, the last amateur show held here.

Schlimm, now a pro, stopped Earl Taylor in five rounds the other night in Baltimore. It was the second time Taylor was the victim of the youthful 200-pounder.

Wonder if he's the same Earl Taylor who was starched with one punch by Lee Sala in the last pro flop staged here in June?

New York Giants Score Over Yanks

Ray Poole Kicks Three Goals In 37-31 Battle

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (INS)—The New York Giants topped the New York Yanks, 37 to 31 today in a free-scoring National Football League game at the Polo Grounds.

A crowd of 25,682 saw the Giants hand the winless Yanks their fifth defeat. Two of three field goals kicked by Ray Poole provided the difference.

Highlight of the scoring duel was a kickoff return "show" put on by Em Tunnell of the Giants and Buddy Young of the Yanks in the third period. Tunnell returned a kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown and Young retaliated by taking the ensuing kickoff 90 yards for a Yank td.

Poole's three field goals were from 27 yards out, 28 and 13. The record for one NFL game is four, set by Paddy Driscoll of the Cards in 1925.

Baker And Bivins To Fight Tonight

LaStarza, Bucceroni Will Meet Friday

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan, heavyweights Roland La Starza and Bob Baker, and middleweight contender Walter Cartier are the top fighters listed for action around the country this week.

Gavilan, who has a busy winter program mapped out, faces sharppunching Tony Janiro, Youngstown, O., middleweight in a non-title ten in the Detroit Olympia Wednesday night. The 10 p. m. (EST) bout will be broadcast and telecast by CBS.

La Starza, whose only loss was a split decision verdict to Rocky Marciano, takes on tall Danny Bucceroni of Philadelphia in a top ten at Madison Square Garden Friday night. The 10 p. m. (EST) bout will be broadcast by ABC and telecast by NBC. Handsome Roland is seeking a return bout with Marciano and a Cleveland shot with Harry (Kid) Matthews.

Both Baker and Cartier see action Monday night. Baker, undefeated contender from Pittsburgh, meets veteran Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland in the main ten at Pittsburgh. Cartier, unbeaten in nearly three years, clashes with Joe Arthur of Indianapolis at Boston in a ten.

Otto Graham Steals Show, Browns Win

Cleveland Trounces Chicago Cards, 34-17

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (INS) — The Cleveland Browns, paced by the passing and ball carrying of their star quarterback, Otto Graham, and the kicking of Lou (The Toe) Groza outscored the Chicago Cardinals 34 to 17 today in a National Football League game at Comiskey Park.

The Browns scored in every quarter as they handed the Cardinals their fifth defeat of the season before 19,742 fans in 21 degree temperatures.

Graham's passes set up all the Browns' scores. He scored two touchdowns himself on line plunges —both from the Chicago one-foot line.

The Browns' quarterback passed to Dante Lavelli for another Cleveland touchdown. The play covered 27 yards.

The Browns scored two touchdowns in the first quarter—one on a 24-yard run by Dub Jones, the other on a plunge by Graham.

The Cards scored a single touchdown in the same period on a 24-yard pass, Jim Hardy to Fran Polsfoot.

In the second quarter, Groza kicked a 32-yard field goal for Cleveland and Graham passed to Lavelli for a Browns' touchdown.

Cliff Patton kicked an 11-yard field goal for the Cardinals, but they trailed at the half, 24 to 10.

The Browns drove 70 yards for their fourth touchdown in the third quarter, with Graham going over from the one.

Groza kicked a 21-yard field goal for Cleveland in the final period.

In the same quarter, Ralph Pasquariello carried over from the Browns' one after pass interference was ruled against Cleveland at that point. The touchdown climaxed a 72-yard Cardinal march.

United States Ryder Cuppers Trim British

Snead Whips Faulkner As Americans Win By Seven Point Margin

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 4 (AP) — Captain Sam Snead cut down British open champion Max Faulkner with a withering spurt of sub-par golf today to lead the United States Ryder Cup forces to a resounding victory over Britain's ranking professionals.

The final score was 9½ points to 2½, with the invaders' points represented by a single win in last Friday's foursomes, plus a victory and a tie in today's final individual matches.

Snead, this country's professional champion, trounced Faulkner, 4 and 3, finishing with three scorching three's. Deadly with his irons and red-hot on the greens, he was six under par for 33 holes over the 7,077-yard, par 72 Pinehurst No. 2 course.

The other singles victories were recorded by National Open Champ Ben Hogan of Fort Worth; Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., the nation's leading money winner; the veteran Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif.; 28-year-old Jackie Burke of Houston and Stewart (Skip) Alexander of Lexington, N. C., who was almost killed a year ago in an airplane accident that left him badly burned.

Only Arthur Lees, a smiling, 43-year-old stylist from Yorkshire, was able to take the measure of an American rival in the climactic man-to-man combat.

Lees Defeats Oliver

Lees, playing near par, downed Ed (Porky) Oliver of Seattle, 2 and 1, putting down a strong late comeback by the westerner. Oliver, four down through the 31st, won three holes in a row but Lees closed him out on the 35th.

Oliver was a last-minute substitute, replacing E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, of St. Andrews, Ill., who was laid down with influenza.

The drawn match was between Fred Daly, a plump Irishman who won the British Open in 1947, and Giant Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., who dissipated a three-hole lead with five holes to play. They walked off the 36th green all square.

Hogan, rated the greatest golfer of the day, started shakily against Ward, the five-foot-five, 135-pound mite of the British squad, going two down after the first five holes because of unsure putting.

But he rallied in traditional Hogan style by canning an eagle three on the 26th and sinking a 65-foot birdie putt on the 31st in the course of winning, 3 and 2.

Demaret Downs Rees

Mangrum, playing with a 102-degree temperature, trounced 31-year-old Harry Weetman, the British PGA champion, 6 and 5.

Demaret, two down at one stage, started hitting the back of the cups with putts of from 10 to 25 feet and downed Dai Rees, two-up, in a great match.

Burke turned back Jimmy Adams, the chubby Scotchman, 4 and 3, needing only two birdies all day to do the job.

Alexander, playing with hands badly damaged by the plane accident that killed all other occupants, won over the other Scottish members of the visiting team, John Panton, 8 and 7, carving one of the most one-sided victories in the history of competition.

The Snead-Faulkner match turned into a popular substitute for the world championship" duel proposed for Faulkner and our open champion, Hogan.

Sam Has Six Birdies

The British refused to agree to this, but the draw happened to pit the dashing Faulkner against the United States PGA king, and Snead seemed to relish the challenge..

The long-hitting West Virginian rang in six birdies as he played the morning round in 34-33—67, five under par. He had had three putts of better than 13 feet.

Major League Stars Win Eighth In Row

OSAKA, Japan, Nov. 5 (Monday) (INS) — Manager Frank "Lefty" O'Doul's visiting Major League All-Stars go after their ninth straight victory over the Japan All-Stars tomorrow at Shizuoka.

Fifty thousand cheering fans jammed Osaka's Koshien Stadium Sunday to see the Americans win their eighth game from the Japanese 4 to 2 to remain undefeated in the goodwill series.

It was "DiMaggio Day" as the two brothers, Joe of the New York Yankees and Dominic of the Boston Red Sox, drove in all but one of the O'Doulmen's tallies.

Mel Parnell of the Red Sox was credited with the win.

FOOTBALL FLASHBACKS — THAT was a game!

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 20, 1934—(Central Press)—Bernie Bierman's Golden Gophers moved into the national championship picture here today by smashing the mighty Pitt Panther, 13 to 7, in a battle of the behemoths.

A crowd of 64,850 in Pitt stadium watched as the Gophers, led by their All-American back, Francis (Pug) Lund, resorted to punting on second down throughout most of the first three quarters.

Pitt, coached by Jock Sutherland, scored first but the Gophers came back with two tallies, enough to win the game.

The two teams battled on even terms, the Panthers gaining 164 yards while the Gophers had 160. Lund (arrow) hits the line for a gain here.

Southern Cal And Stanford Get Spotlight

Notre Dame, Spartans To Tangle Saturday; Few Upsets Last Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP) — The weatherman got in his first heavy blows of the 1951 college football season yesterday, and when all the returns were in he was the big winner.

Snow, sleet, rain, mud and winds up to 45 miles per hour combined to make football anything but a game for players and spectators alike throughout the east and midwest. Three Big 10 games were decided by a single score, but there were fewer upsets than normal for such a day.

William and Mary's speedy backs slithered through the Franklin Field goo faster than Penn's for a 20-12 surprise, and Columbia edged Cornell, 21-20 on extra points, but elsewhere form held true.

Illinois Ekes Out Win

The weather was at its worst at Champaign, Ill., as Illinois scored on a pass in the final 65 seconds to beat Michigan 7-0 in the game which may have decided the conference's champion and Rose Bowl representative. Two inches of snow blanketed the field with the thermometer at 29 degrees and a 45 mile per hour wind blew up and down the turf.

It wasn't much better at Madison, Wis., where the Badgers also scored on a pass to trim Indiana, 6-0, or at Columbus, O., where Vic Janowicz booted a field goal for Ohio State's 3-0 win over Northwestern.

Brown's football team learned to its sorrow, however, that it takes more than a snowstorm to slow down All-America Dick Kazmaier. Stymied on passes, the Princeton ace ran 14 and 61 yards for touchdowns and wound up with 262 yards from rushing as Princeton stretched its victory string to 19 straight with a 12-0 win.

Notre Dame Tops Navy

The elements also failed to aid the nation's service academies, as Army took a brief lead but was shellacked by Southern California, 28-6, and Navy made enough mistakes for a 19-0 Notre Dame victory. Both games were played in mud, and the lads from sunny Southern California also had to contend with snow and rain in outclassing the Cadets.

Two other intersectional clashes also were played in poor weather. Purdue swamped Penn State, 28-0, amid snow swirled by 45-mile-per-hour winds; the Maryland's mudders murdered Missouri, 35-0.

The games played in more normal weather also produced their upsets. Arkansas did it again in the Southwest Conference, belting over Texas A & M, 33-21, while UCLA shocked California, 21-7 and Duke came from behind in the last quarter to tie Georgia Tech, 14-all.

Tennessee Wins, 27-0

The result knocked the engineers from the ranks of the undefeated and untied, but none of the other major schools with perfect records went under. Besides Princeton, Illinois and Maryland, these include Tennessee, 27-0 over North Carolina as Hank Lauricella passed for one touchdown, set up another and scored two himself; Stanford, 21-13 over Washington State; and Cincinnati, 13-12 over Hardin-Simmons.

Defeat Forty Niners As Waterfield Stars

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4 (INS) — Bob Waterfield did everything but take tickets today as the Los Angeles Rams bounced back into title contention in the National Professional Football League by defeating the San Francisco 49ers, 23 to 16, before 55,659 fans.

Bullet Bob personally scored 17 of the Rams' 23 points on a touchdown, three field goals and two extra points, and passed 75 yards to Elroy Hirsch for the td that put the Rams in front to stay late in the fourth quarter.

Waterfield booted his first field goal, a 39-yarder, early in the first quarter and followed it up a few minutes later by plunging across from the one-foot line.

San Francisco fullback Joe Perry tallied his team's first marker when he galloped 58 yards through the entire Rams' team for a touchdown, but Waterfield kicked a 20-yard field goal to make the halftime score 13-7 in favor of L. A.

The 49ers started rolling early in the second half, going 85 yards in 14 plays, with Frankie Albert scoring from the seven on a bootleg play. Albert's conversion attempts failed, tying the score at 13 all.

San Francisco went ahead a few minutes later on Gordon Soltau's 11-yard field goal. This set the stage for Waterfield's tremendous 76-yarder to Hirsch and then the Ram quarterback wound up his busy afternoon by kicking a 38-yard field goal. Score:

Chicago Bears Top Redskins By 27-0 Score

Washington's Brief Win Streak Halted By League Leaders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (INS) — The Chicago Bears ended the Washington Redskins' two-game winning streak today with a 27 to 0 shutout before 31,737 chilled and cheerless fans at Griffith Stadium.

The victory kept the Bears in first place in the National Conference.

The Bears capitalized on a strong ground attack and two Washington fumbles to overpower the Redskins whose only threat came in the third quarter on a 45-yard drive which halted at the five yard line.

George Blanda booted a 15-yard field goal in the first period and a 40-yarder in the fourth.

George Thomas' fumble on the Redskins 41 set up Chicago's first touchdown, with Chuck Hunsinger plunging over from the five. Steve Romanik's seven-yard toss to Don Kindt climaxed a 69-yard march and gave the Bears their second tally.

Their final marker came when Julie Rykovich skirted left end for 11 yards after the Bears recovered Bill Dudley's bobble on the Redskins' 48.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear little Jerry Ward who left us Nov. 5, 1949.
Memories and treasures non can steal
Death leaves a heartache none can heal
Some have forgotten you now that you're gone
But I will remember you no matter how long
Flowers I place upon your grave will wither and decay
But love for the one who sleeps beneath will never fade away.
Sadly missed by his Parents and Grandmother Ward

In sad and loving memory of George H. Schultz, who died five years ago, November 5, 1946.
Do not ask if we miss him
There is such a vacant place.
Oft we think we hear his footsteps
And see his smiling face.
Days of sadness still come over us
Tears in silence often flow,
Love keeps him ever near us
Though he left us five long years ago.
Sadly missed by his Wife, Sons and Daughters

Michigan State was idle and San Francisco met Santa Clara today.

The Associated Press' top 10 teams wound up the day with six wins, two losses and one tie (Michigan State, as noted, was idle while the second-rated Spartans prepared for the big game with Notre Dame next Saturday).

Winners were Tennessee: No. 1; Illinois, No. 3; Maryland, No. 4; Princeton, No. 6; Southern California, No. 7 and Wisconsin, No. 10. Georgia Tech, No. 5, was tied, while Baylor, No. 8, and California, No. 9, were beaten and may very well drop from the select circle in this week's balloting.

Baylor Is Toppled

Interceptions of Larry Isbell's passes led to Baylor's defeat. Texas Christian scored twice after snagging Isbell passes and wound up with a 20-7 victory and the only perfect mark in Southwest Conference competition. Texas also converted two intercepted passes (thrown by Fred Benners) to defeat Southern Methodist, 20-13, despite a 92-yard runback of a punt by sprinter Val Joe Walker for one of SMU's scores.

Field goals decided two southern games, with Pete Polovina giving Mississippi State a 10-7 win over Tulane and Red Lutz kicking Alabama into a 16-14 triumph over Georgia.

Best comeback of the day was recorded by Iowa, which scored three times in the final period to tie Minnesota, 20-20. Big Bill Reichardt sparked the drive, scoring on runs of six and 36 yards and booting two extra points.

In other big games, Dartmouth won over Yale, 14-10 on Gene Howard's 55-yard run; Holy Cross thumped Colgate, 34-6; Oklahoma continued its Big Seven rampage with a 33-0 win over Kansas State while Colorado was beating Iowa State, 47-20; Oregon State thrashed Washington, 40-14; and Kentucky overwhelmed Miami (Florida), 32-0, with the help of three touchdown passes from the accurate arm of Babe Parilli.

Games This Week

Saturdy's slate features the Notre Dam - Michigan State clash, the Stanford - Southern California Game, which probably will determine the Pacific Coast entry in the Rose Bowl, and a slew of intersectional clashes. These include Michigan at Cornell, The Citadel at Army, Marquette at Holy Cross, Oregon at Boston University, Detroit at Villanova, Loyola of Los Angeles at Kansas, Penn at Wisconsin and Boston College at Clemson.

Most Babies With Crossed Eyes Do Not Outgrow Them

By FRANK CAREY

TORONTO, Ont. — (AP) — Two Philadelphia physicians have warned baby doctors against "the all too prevalent attitude that most babies with crossed eyes will outgrow them."

Dr. Robert H. Trueman, an eye specialist, and Dr. Joseph A. Ritter, a pediatrician, said about 25 per cent of cross-eyedness in infants is transitory, but that if the eyes remain crossed after six months there's a high probability the affliction is an established one, necessitating immediate treatment.

The doctors, both of Graduate Hospital, of the University of Pennsylvania, declared in a report to the 20th annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics:

"It has been found that many times the parents are told by their pediatrician to disregard a case of crossed-eyes in a young child, in that the child, as it develops, will outgrow it.

"We are stressing the fact that a child will never outgrow an established abnormality of this kind."

They told a reporter that approximately 10 per cent of all children have established cross-eyedness in one form or another, and that among these, eye-straightening can be achieved by eye glasses in about 45 per cent of cases, with the rest requiring surgery.

They emphasized that while "cosmetic correction"—straightening of the eyes—can be accomplished in all cases, if a child goes beyond the age of 14 without proper treatment the sight in the crossed eye may be irrevocably lost.

Urging baby doctors to refer cases to eye specialists "if they have any suspicion of an established crossed-eye," the Philadelphians said that early diagnosis and treatment by non-surgical means often could prevent an established affliction.

Police Probing Mystery Around Michigan Preacher's Destroyed Auto, Injured Wife Near Bedford

Woman With Abdominal Wounds Found Near Car; Husband Picked Up Hitch-Hiking

BEDFORD, Pa., Nov. 4 (AP) — State Police held a suburban Detroit minister in a hospital under police guard today after his wife was found injured near their burned auto and he was discovered trying to hitch a ride six miles away.

Private Harry Rook said full details of the case have not been unravelled and police are trying to learn why the minister's car was destroyed by fire shortly before he and his injured wife were picked up yesterday.

Rook identified the minister as the Reverend Philemon Sebastiades, 59, of (2410 Ford Park) Lincoln Park, Mich. The officer said Sebastiades is pastor of the St. George Greek Orthodox Church at Lincoln Park.

Both Hospitalized

Mr. Sebastiades is a patient at a hospital here, being treated for burns of the face and hands and shock. His wife (age unavailable) is in the same hospital. She has puncture wounds in the abdomen, Rook said.

The officer, who said Sebastiades is charged with suspicion of assault with intent to kill, gave this version:

A passing motorist discovered the Michigan couple's completely burned auto near here. Mrs. Sebastiades was lying on the ground nearby.

Both Will Be Questioned

Shortly afterwards police picked up her husband while he was trying to hitchhike on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about six miles from the scene.

Rook said he believes the couple was en route home from Washington, he added:

"That is all I can say about the case at this time, except that neither the minister nor his wife can give us a complete story because of their condition. The minister's wife has told us a couple of different versions already. We'll try and question both of them again tomorrow."

Slot Machines Seized In Raid On Local Club

A Locust Grove man posted $200 bond on a gaming charge last night after City Police said they seized four slot machines in a raid on the Navy Club, 148 North Centre Street.

Police booked him as Paul V. Drew, RFD 6, Locust Grove, and charged him with maintaining a gaming device. He is scheduled to appear at a Police Court hearing Wednesday morning.

Lieutenants James E. Van and Edwin R. Lilya said they staged the raid at 8:30 p. m. yesterday as a result of complaints that slot machines were being operated at the club.

Van and Lilya said they gained entrance after an unidentified man left the upstairs club room.

The officers asked the man to accompany them back to the club room, where he gained entrance. As he stepped inside, Van, Lilya and Officers John Powers and Richard Lashley stepped in behind him.

Lilya and Van said three nickel machines and one dime machine were in operation when they entered. All were in working order, they said.

No witnesses were summoned for the hearing. Police said the club is operated by Cumberland Council, Navy League of the United States.

1,500 People Hear Dr. Jones At Fort Hill

Will Hold Conference Today With Ministers

Speaking before approximately 1,500 people last night in Fort Hill High School auditorium, Rev. Dr. E. Stanley Jones, noted missionary, explained that God was the answer to the needs of the confused world in which we live.

Dr. Jones, who is sponsored by the Cumberland Ministerial Association, began a six-day preaching mission here last night.

Last night's session was in charge of Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor of the Living Stone Church of the Brethren, and president of Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Rev. Raymond A. Faulds, Jr., pastor of Zion Evangelical Reformed Church, read a scripture, and Rev. Crates Johnson, pastor of Central Methodist Church, led the evening prayer. The choir sang an anthem, "God So Loved the World."

In emphasizing his theme, Dr. Jones pointed out that Christianity is not an institution nor a group of ceremonies but a person. "Christ is greater than the church and the church has meaning because it has Christ," he said.

"Christ is greater than the Bible which has meaning because it contains the message of Christ," he said. "Christ is greater than the sacraments or the cross or the ressurection; they all have meaning because of Him."

"Christ is greater than our problems because he has solutions to them. He is greater than our griefs or our resentments or our fears or our guilt; He can free us from all these," Dr. Jones noted in his sermon.

Today at 10:30 a. m., Dr. Jones is scheduled to have a conference opened to all ministers of the area in Central YMCA. On Wednesday at 10 and 10:45 a. m. he will speak at Allegany High School.

On Thursday at 10:30 a. m., he will address students at Fort Hill High School. At noon he will speak before the Kiwanis Club. At 3 p. m. he will speak at Frostburg State Teachers College. This meeting is open to all residents of Frostburg.

Friday he will meet with the Council of Church Women at 2 p. m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Record Low Temperatures Chill Area

Colder Readings Expected Today

Weather was reported clear in Cumberland last night but temperature dropped to the lowest for this part of November since 1917 according to records at Constitution Park's weather station.

Cumberland's low temperature for yesterday was 21 degrees compared to 18 degrees on November 3, 1917.

Oddly enough the high temperature of 44 degrees was recorded in the morning although the sun did not appear until afternoon. What caused the unusual circumstance was a cold wind which began sweeping the city in the afternoon. The thermometer began dropping slowly, until at 8 p. m., mercury was down to 29 degrees.

Even lower temperatures were recorded in other sections of the area late last night, however. Deal, Pa. reported a temperature of 16 degrees and Thomas, W. Va., reported a reading of 14 degrees. Rockwood, Pa. recorded a 20 degree temperature. All sections were clear.

Blazer and Altamont reported clear weather and readings of 24 and 22 degrees. Hardman and Terra Alta, W. Va. recorded readings of 31 and 22 degrees late last night. All reported clear atmosphere.

The Weather Bureau predicts even lower temperatures for the west portion of the state this morning with some sections having lows of 15 degrees. Weather will continue to be clear however.

Officials expect plenty of chilly weather for November with some snow. Saturday's light snow was just a warning to what is coming. Experts seem to think the area will pay for the unusually high temperatures of the past month.

Today is expected to be continued cold wih slightly warmer readings in the afternoon. Low humidity, however, will keep people from feeling the chill too much.

Two Area Men Enlist

They were dispatched to Bainbridge Training Center for boot training.

Presbyterians To Launch Big Fund Campaign

$125,000 Needed For Building Plan

Construction of a $212,000 building is underway by the First Presbyterian Church. In order to help defray cost, a $125,000 building fund campaign will be held this month, Adolf Blunk, chairman, announces.

During the drive, Blunk added, family pledges will be sought with each family of the congregation being given an opportunity to make a pledge for weekly payment over 150 weeks beginning December 1.

General solicitation will begin after the opening dinner for members of the soliciting organizations on November 12. The campaign office has been established in the church office with Philip J. McLean, director and Mrs. Gaither Martin, secretary.

The buidling fund campaign committee consists of Adolf Blunk, chairman; Frank V. Carpenter, co-chairman; Lewis J. Ort, William Russell Pancake, Russell L. Rice, T. L. Richards, Harold W. Smith and Alvin B. Storey, with Gordon L. Bowie, Ross O. Decker and Rev. Seth C. Morrow as ex-officia members.

Committee chairmen include: T. L. Richards, finance; David T. Davis, publicity; Mrs. Porter D. Collins, arrangements and Harold W. Smith, listings.

At its founding in 1871, the First Presbyterian Church had a membership of 117, while today's number of members is 1,000.

Cumberland Remains No. 1 On Jobless List

Labor Supply Listed 6,500 Below Year Ago

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4 (AP)—Pre-Christmas work may bring some cheer to Cumberland but that city is still the state's number one unemployment problem, according to the Maryland Department of Employment Security.

It has Cumberland listed as the state's only "clearance point" city. That's an area to which employers are referred if they can't get enough help in their own areas.

The department said some unemployed are leaving Cumberland, and reportedly are seeking work in Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Detroit.

The department said that last month in Allegany County there were about 30,700 employed and 4,400 idle. In October 1950 there were 35,800 working and 5,800 idle, the department said.

These figures indicate that the available labor supply on record a year ago was 41,600 in the county, while last month it is recorded as 35,100. Officials observed that the decrease of 6,500 in the labor pool indicates many unemployed have left the county or are no longer registered with the employment service.

PTA Wants UMT On Temporary Basis

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 4 (AP) —A spokesman for the Maryland Parent-Teachers Congress yesterday clarified just what type of Universal Military Training that organization favors.

They want "a program for the emergency period only, rather than a permanent measure of military conscription," according to Mrs. C. Austin Gardner, of Hagerstown, newly elected secretary of the state group.

A confusion of terms arose after the annual Congress debated "permanent" and "temporary" programs here Friday. The confusion was brought about in part after a hectic debate on the proposal in which a delegate moved that the word "temporary" be deleted in the phrase a "temporary program"..

The suggestion was adopted by a 97-78 vote. However, the group still wants a program for the emergency period, only—in other words, a temporary program.

Ralph D. Moore, recently appointed to the Supreme Council of the Loyal Order of Moose, and also general governor of the Moose, was for many years a judge of the Municipal Court of Des Moines, Iowa. He is also former president of the Iowa State Moose Association and chairman of the National Ritual Committee. His offices are at Mooseheart, Illinois.

Gordon Jeffery, past governor of Toledo (Ohio) Lodge No. 713, is a member of the board of directors of Mooseheart, secretary of the Ohio State Moose Association and is clerk of Lucas county, Ohio.

Both men will be among the list of prominent speakers for the conclave here.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall is chairman of the program committee and his co-chairmen will be Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris and Former Judges Walter C. Capper and Oliver H. Bruce, Jr.

Annual Yuletide Balloon Parade Set November 26

Work On Decorations To Begin Next Friday

The second annual Cumberland Christmas season balloon parade is scheduled for Monday, November 26, at 7:30 p. m., Anthony Saeli, new secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, announced.

The route for the parade, which is expected to be the largest ever, will be announced later.

The program is being sponsored by the Mercantile Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce. Work on lighting and street decorations will begin November 16 and lights will be turned on Thanksgiving night.

The following committees have been selected:

Decorations—Charles E. Smith, Robert Little Ebert, L. V. Shinnamon, Harry B. Williams, and W. G. Ewald.

Parade—Charles E. Smith and Thomas F. Conlon.

Boys—Winfield Adam and Ralph L. Lewis.

Music—Jack E. Platt.

Refreshments—W. G. Ewald.

Police—Sgt. Raymond R. Johnston.

The parade will be composed of all sorts of quaint and queer figures that have been fashioned from rubber balloons in an ingenious way. A few of the figures are small enough to be carried by one person, but most of the characters are of gargantuan proportions.

The unit which will parade here is one of three originated, designed, and produced by Jean Gros, of Pittsburgh.

Since the balloons are inflated with nothing but air, they are entirely safe.

Plans are also being made by the South End Businessmen's Association for extending Christmas lighting over virtually all of Virginia Avenue.

A fund drive, led by Lacy Cifala, has brought in much of the money needed to purchase lights for Virginia Avenue, from the B. and O. subway to Potomac Street, officials said.

Holstein Heifer Party Scheduled Dec. 8

A number of Allegany County 4-H Club members are expected to attend the seventh annual Holstein Heifer Party at the University of Maryland Dairy Barn Saturday, December 8, according to Assistant County Agent Joseph M. Steger.

Boys and girls who would like to acquire a Holstein heifer are advised to contact Steger for request forms. These forms must be mailed by Steger to John L. Morris, extension dairyman at College Park, not later than November 15. Youngsters already owning pure-bred stock will not be eligible.

The assistant county agent said that it is expected that the Holstein calves will sell for $125 and $150.

"Victim X" Will Be Listed As Millionth Traffic Death

By LYNN WALKER
President Western Maryland Safety Council

"Don't Be The Millionth Man," say the Maryland State Police, the National Safety Council, and the Western Maryland Safety Council.

Who is the Millionth Man?—He is Victim X and his picture will be on posters, in phamplets and newspapers and his name will be mentioned on the radio throughout the nation, in an effort to curb traffic accidents. Victim X was the theme of the Safety Week program which ended Saturday.

From its mass of statistical information, the National Safety Council discribes Victim X as 21 years of age, five feet, eight inches tall.

He is a high school graduate and has been driving a car since he was old enough to qualify for an operator's license.

Victim X smokes cigarettes, drinks somewhat and has a steady girl friend. He plays bingo or poker occasionally but will tell you emphatically that he never gambles heavily.

Last Few Minutes

"X" is going to die soon and this is a description of his last few minutes of life before the accident.

At approximately 10 o'clock one night next December, he will be driving his ten-year-old car on a straight stretch of concrete highway. Traffic is light so he will speed up a little because it seems safe enough. He will be occupied by many thoughts not even remotely connected with operating a car since he has been driving for several years.

He will glance at his rear view mirror occasionally and dim his lights for approaching cars, but these actions have become mechanical and require no consciousness.

He dims his lights for an approaching car and in that last split second realizes his car is over the center line. Desperately he swings away but just a trifle too late. The point of impact is at the corner of his windshield.

Bad Driving—Not Bad Luck

His car skids around in the road, rolls over and comes to stop on its side. The other auto careens, rights itself and comes to a stop but "X" will never know. He is dead in the wreckage of his car. His skull crushed; his face and body lacerated and torn.

Victim X is just an average young man, he could be the boy next door, he could be any man, woman or child you know, or, he could be you.

The death of Victim X, the Millionth Man, is inevitable. We can postpone the event and give him a little more time by trying to correct our bad driving habits, because it is bad driving, not bad luck that causes accidents.

Today's Sermonette

By REV. VERNON R. BECKMAN

Today's sermonette is a digest of a sermon prepared for delivery at Wiley Ford Church of the Brethren by the pastor, Rev. Vernon R. Beckman. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Who Are The Sons Of God

Sonship is limited to those who receive Christ into their life. "But as many as received Him gave He the power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name. This brings us to the opposite fact that many did not receive Him.

Rev. Beckman

"He came unto His own and His own received Him not." When He came to the synagogue in His home town, Nazareth, and read a Messianic prophecy from Isaiah, and then said that He was the fulfillment of that prophecy they took Him out and endeavored to push Him off a high cliff, but He departed from them. The same story could be repeated many times today.

Perhaps there are congregations that do not want Jesus, because he would reform them. A colored man came to a pastor at the close of the church service and asked to be received into the church. The minister knowing the people were reluctant in receiving Negroes said, "You go home and pray about it and then tell me what the Lord says." The Lord's answer was this," I have been trying to get in there ever since the church was built and can't, it's no use for you to try."

The Sonship is made possible through Jesus Christ. "For through Him we both have access by one spirit unto the Father." As we think of the natural process of adoption we realize it is the husband and wife, who with their great love for children take the initiative in obtaining a child to become their son or daughter. The child only accepts the privilege. Likewise it is not we who make the effort in becoming God's children, but Jesus Christ through His great love for us has made it possible. We only accept or reject the opportunity to become the children of God.

The adoption is by regeneration on God's side and faith on man's side. Sonship belongs to men by virtue of birth. Therefore regeneration is necessary if people are to become the children of God. Sonship belongs to those "who were born not of blood nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God."

The Jews thought that by being descendants of Abraham they were the true sons of God, regardless of their faith in God. It was for this reason that John the Baptist when baptizing and multitudes of Jewish people came unto him to be baptized, said, "ye generation of vipers, bring forth fruits worthy of repentance and say not within yourselves we have Abraham to our father."

It is not heredity that makes you a true child of God. We have often seen the opposite when seemingly Godly parents have children that are ungodly. Man alone has no power to become a child of God, it is through the new birth. Just as in the case of the orphan child the individual needs only to accept or receive Him. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved."

Through regeneration on God's side and faith on man's side all who will may be a recipient of God's grace and thereby become a true child of God and heir to all things of God.

Historical Data And Opening Date Of Fort Cumberland Are Sought

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN
News Staff Writer

The Fort Cumberland Bicentennial Stamp Committee has instituted an intensive research program to learn the date upon which the historic military post was opened here.

Every effort will be made to learn the date so the proposed stamp may be released on the 200th anniversary of the event.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian of the Cumberland Free Public Library, said the committee has authorized the British Museum to secure a researcher to study contemporary records which might give a clue to the anniversary date.

The action was taken after authorities of the Museum reported no date was obtainable from available records.

The committee recently asked the Maryland Historical Society to cooperate in the project and Miss Walsh said members of the society are now working on the research task.

The principal hope of the Association is that letters or records written by some members of the original garrison will mention the day on which the fort was officially completed.

Seek Fort Data

The committee headed by Miss Walsh has been working for many months to secure data which will be needed in petitioning for the issuance of the adhesive in 1954 or 1955.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall has promised full cooperation in the campaign for the Fort Cumberland stamp.

Wills Creek, site of an important Indian settlement, became a permanent trading post of the Ohio Company in 1752, according to Will H. Lowdermilk, famous Cumberland historian.

It was natural that this city, built on the outskirts of civilization, should become the staging point for Great Britain in its struggle against the French for control of the Ohio Valley.

The need for fortifications here were intensified by the surrender of Fort Necessity. Following the bitter retreat from Great Meadows, General George Washington tarried at Wills Creek for several days and then went on to Williamsburg, Va., to make his report on the campaign.

Build Fortifications

Shortly afterwards, Col. James Innes marched to Cumberland and on September 1, 1754, took command of the army garrison here.

Col. Innes immediately set the soldiers to work building fortifications. The stockade was begun September 12, 1754, and completed about the middle of October.

Col. Innes named the post "Fort Mt. Pleasant."

No sooner was the fort built than the soldiers were set at work building barracks. By Christmas they had completed enough log houses to accommodate the garrison.

Lowdermilk recounts that the soldiers celebrated that Christmas in 1754 with such festivities as were possible.

Builds New Fort

Governor Sharpe, of Maryland, who had been commissioned a lieutenant colonel in the British Army, visited Wills Creek on December 1, 1754.

He reported Fort Mt. Pleasant was too small and it was imperative that a larger fort be raised on adjacent but higher ground, adding that he had ordered the Maryland Company to proceed with the work which he hoped might be completed that winter.

Shortly after Fort Mt. Pleasant was completed, Governor Dinwiddie of Virginia received instructions from the king to proceed with the erection of a fort at Wills Creek "of such dimensions and character of construction as the importance of the position seemed to require in view of the extensive military operations in the direction of Fort Duquesne.

These instructions were forwarded to Colonel Innes with orders to expedite the work.

General Edward Braddock, when he was named commander of an expeditionary force which was to operate from Fort Cumberland, asked Gov. Sharpe to place the fort in condition to accommodate 200 men and announced that it would be called Fort Cumberland, in honor of the Duke of Cumberland.

The fort was built and garrisoned during the winter of 1754-1755 but efforts to learn the date of the official opening have so far been unavailing.

Lowdermilk, in his History of Cumberland, described the fort as 400 by 160 feet, extending from a point beyond Emmanuel Episcopal Church to within a short distance of Prospect Square with the north line near Washington Street.

The fort proper, he added, was placed almost on the site of the old Hoye house, now the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Local Christmas Saving Funds To Total $453,387

Three Cumberland banks operating Christmas saving funds will pay out a total of $453,387 this year.

The amount is only $12,920 under the record of $466,307 established in 1949 and is only $5,403 under last year's total of $460,904.

There was a greater decline in the number of clubs than in the amount of money saved as clubs dropped from 6,515 last year to 6,178.

This was explained by bankers who said larger clubs are becoming more popular although the $1 per week class continues tops.

The Commercial Savings Bank will have checks totaling $142,000 ready for its 2,122 club members on November 20. They will not be mailed but must be picked up at the bank.

The Liberty Trust Company will mail 3,246 checks for $25,387 December 1.

Cumberland Savings Bank has 810 clubs for a total of $57,000. The money will be available at the end of this month.

In the entire United States $952,000,000 will be distributed in Christmas Club funds. Leading the parade will be the Bank of America N. T. and S. A., San Francisco, with $27,000,000.

A total of 10,000,000 club members in 6,200 banks will benefit.

The Weather

A chilly wind which began sweeping the city in the afternoon, brought low morning temperatures even lower. A dim sun bravely appeared about 1 p. m. as the atmosphere began to clear. High temperature reported by the weather station at Constitution Park was 44 degrees, low was 21, and at 8 p. m. the mercury was leveled at 29 degrees. Humidity was marked as 40 per cent.
